GOP Seers Search For A Champion — Is It Nixon?

(EDITOR'S NOTE: In this survey, Republican leaders across the land give their views on rebuilding the party and look ahead to GOP chances in the 1966 and 1968 elections.)

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many influential Republicans across the country expect Richard M. Nixon to play a leading role in rebuilding the GOP for what most of them think will be a strong 1966 comeback.

Nixon, the 1960 presidential nominee, and GOP Govs. George Romney of Michigan, William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York were most frequently mentioned as prospective leaders of this comeback in an Associated Press survey.

The survey, reaching GOP officials in all sections of the nation, disclosed little enthusiasm for another presidential race by defeated Sen. Barry Goldwater. There were many suggestions that he yield control of the party machinery as the result of the shattering impact of President Lyndon B. Johnson's landslide.

Nixon, who campaigned actively for Goldwater, was mentioned by Republicans from all sections of the country as a man to be reckoned with in the next four years.

Oklahoma State Chairman John W. Tyler, commented: "I think we're going to see an awful lot of Mr. Nixon real quick. I think he's the only man who can pull the party together."

South Carolina State Chairman J. Drake Edens Jr. said Nixon "is the man you have to watch in the party." Robert L. Pierce, Wisconsin national committeeman, observed that "Nixon looks good," in party fortunes at this point. Wisconsin State Chairman Talbot Peterson said he thinks the reins of national party control should be handed to somebody like Nixon.

"I heard more good things about Nixon this time and there are some who will never be convinced that things wouldn't have been different if he had been the nominee again," Peterson said.

Benjamin F. Dillingham, Hawaii national committeeman said the party should regroup around "someone who will represent the true consensus of the conservatives." He named Nixon and Scranton as possibilities.

Minnesota National Committeeman George Etzell forcast that Nixon will play a strong future party role.

Next to Nixon, Romney, who won re-election handily while Johnson was carrying Michigan was most often mentioned as the future party leader.

Gov. John H. Chafee of Rhode Island, also re-elected against the Democratic trend, called Romney and Scranton "fine leaders" who should play a part in rebuilding the party. Robert Corber, Virginia state chairman, predicted that "someone in the image of Gov. Romney" will emerge on top.

Investors' Group Pays $1 Million For Burdell Ranch

Historic Novato Area Home To Be Preserved, Buyer Says

The historic 760-acre Burdell Ranch north of Novato has been sold by University of San Francisco to a group of about 50 Marin and San Francisco investors, it was announced today.

The price was reported "in excess of one million dollars."

The ranch is the heart of the Rancho Olompali, a Mexican grant to the chief of the Olompali Indians. Shell mounds and arrowheads found in the area indicate it was the camping grounds of Indians for many centuries.

The first adobe house north of San Francisco was built there in 1776 for the Olompali chief, after the Indians were taught brickmaking by Spanish Catholic priests who were building the Mission Dolores in San Francisco. The second adobe house, built for the chief's son a few year later, was occupied by the Burdell family after the purchased the ranch, and was incorporated into the 26-room mansion built by the Burdells in 1915 about three miles north of Novato.

There has been agitation of late to preserve the mansion as an historical monument. It is hidden from Highway 101 by a long, wooded drive and many old trees. Some of the trees, including giant Japanese maples, were brought from the Orient by the Burdells in the 1860s.

University of San Francisco purchased the ranch from the Burdell family in 1950, and since then it has been used as a Jesuit retreat.

One of the few battles of the Bear Flag Rebellion, which predated seizure of California by the United States, was fought at the ranch. One Spaniard was killed in the skirmish.

At one time the site was under consideration for a northern campus of the College of Marin. It has been mentioned from time to time as a possible state or county park.

Mrs. Lois Verzuh of Top Properties, San Rafael and Novato Realty firm, heads the group of investors who purchased the ranch. Robert Coldwell of Coldwell, Banker and Co. represented University of San Francisco in the negotiations.

Mrs. Verzuh said the property was bought as a long-term investment, and there is no plan for development at present. She said the purchasers intend to maintain the mansion and gardens for their historical value and natural beauty.

YOUNG ADMIRER MEETS LBJ

Raynella Melton, 8, of Frederick, Tex., is an obvious admirer of President Lyndon B. Johnson—and she cagily took advantage of cornerstone ceremonies for St. Barnabas Episcopal Church there yesterday, to meet her hero. After sidling through the crowd to Johnson's side she attracted his attention and finally exchanged a few words with him. Today, at his LBJ Ranch, the President met with a steady stream of cabinet members. (AP Wirephotos)

Former Addicts 'Trade' Proposed

Synanon, New York Planning

A plan for "trading" former dope addicts between New York and California will begin within 90 days under sponsorship of Synanon Foundation, Jack Hurst, director of the Synanon house at Marshall, predicted today.

Hurst said Synanon is negotiating for a site in New York state to handle Californians sent from the Marin County facility.

The announcement came as Hurst and Hal Fenton, chairman of the Marin chapter of Sponsors of Synanon, replied to critics who have protested Synanon's announced plan to build a "city" of 5,000 on its 42-acre site at Tomales Bay, the old Marconi property.

They also attacked the attitudes of those running the California prison system, for not allowing parolees to enter the Synanon program.

The chairman of Synanon's board of directors, Charles Dederich, is expected to return later in the week from a New York trip in which he sought financial aid from New York City and state officials for the exchange program, which Hurst dubbed "cross-pollination."

Scheduled to arrive in Marin tomorrow is Vincent Staraci, deputy president of the New York Borough of the Bronx.

Fenton said the New York Synanon house "probably will

FIRST SINCE SPLIT

Brezhnev, Chou In Secret Talks

MOSCOW (UPI) — Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai spent two hours in secret talks today with Soviet Communist Party Leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, Communist sources reported.

It was the first such high-level conference since the Sino-Soviet split came into the open three years ago. The sources said they apparently discussed future peace meetings.

After the talks Brezhnev was host at a supper summit meeting for Chou and the other Communist leaders visiting Moscow, the sources said.

No details of the conversations were made public. But Communist sources said the two men apparently discussed Chou's suggestions to reopen peace talks in Peking early next year.

The sources said the ouste of Premier Nikita Khrushchev Oct. 14 hardly had figured in the Kremlin meetings and that none of the visiting Communist dignitaries had asked to see him.

They said the visitors had not pressed the Kremlin for more details of the Khrushchev ouster and that they had been told no more than the Western world has learned through the Communist Party newspaper Pravda.

In the Chou-Brezhnev meeting, Communist sources said the rival comrades undoubtedly sounded each other out on ending the name calling which began three years ago when Chou walked out in protest against Khrushchev's statements.

The sources said Chou and Brezhnev met without any of the lesser Communist leaders who came to Moscow for the 47th anniversary celebrations of the Bolshevik Revolution.

U.S. Believes Cuba Now Controls Missiles

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The State Department said today it believes the Cuban armed forces have probably assumed control of Russian anti-aircraft missiles stationed in Cuba.

State Department officials left unclear, howevere, the question whether there was a Soviet-Cuban agreement limiting their use or giving the Russians an outright veto over firing them.

The State Department also said that now, two years after the October, 1961, Cuban missile crisis, Russia appears to have reduced its military presence in Cuba to a "few thousand" Soviet military advisers and technicians.

Cuban Premier Fidel Castro said in an interview with the New York Times published yesterday that the Russian-anti-aircraft missiles "are now under Cuban control."

The State Department said today this statement was "consistent with our information."

Department press officer Robert P. McCloskey said the department had believed for some time that the Cubans were capable of assuming control of the missiles "and we believe now that that control has been transferred."

MvCloskey said U.S. reconnaisance flights over Cuba have been continuing. He said it is still the U.S. position that all Soviet military personnel should leave Cuba.

In a six-hour interview published by the Times, Castro said that there were enough Soviet military technicians remaining in Cuba to act as a "solid combat force" in the event of an invasion.

"I don't mean something like the Bay of Pigs," the story quoted Castro as saying, "I mean an actual invasion by the armed forces of the United States or by such other country."

The request was granted by Dist. Judge Frank Gregory. The attorneys said they wanted time to study new evidence.

Grand Jury Unit Asks About Ballot Handling

Marin County Grand Jury's county offices committee, headed by Clifford S. Lund, met at the Civic Center today and asked County Clerk George H. Gnoss about the handling of ballots and ballot bags.

"They were concerned with the procedure in handling of ballots between the time the ballot bags left the polling places and arrived at the courthouse," said Gnoss.

Both Gnoss and his election superintendent, John Musser, attended the grand jury committee meeting.

Gnoss said he was informed that the sheriff's civil department office in the basement of the courthouse was available for use during election night. He said he might use that space to store the ballot bags as they come in from precincts in the next election.

The county clerk denied that ballot bags from precincts were "left unattended" in the courthouse parking lot. He said he had several election officers working last Tuesday night, bringing the bags into the courthouse building as soon as they arrived, and that police accompanied the ballot bags from precincts to the courthouse.

During the height of the rush, when several hundred bags were delivered to the courthouse at one time, Gnoss said there was bound to be some pileup outside. He stressed the bays were not left unattended.

Gnoss and election superintendent John Musser were the only two witnesses called, Foreman Joseph Warren Crane reported.

Twelve Sausalito crab fishermen were at Mile Rock, outside the Golden Gate, at 6 a.m. today, he said, but all boats returned because of the squally weather.

Fishermen might go out this afternoon to set their gear, said Gidley, but if the weather does not clear, crabs will be delayed a day.

The season, which has been forecast as another poor one by the State Fish and Game Department, opens at midnight today.

Russians Again Reject Demands To Pay U.N. Bill

Soviet Rejects U.S. Position That They Should Lose Vote

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union has again rejected the U.S. demand that it help pay for the United Nations' peacekeeping operations in the Congo and Middle East, the official Tass news agency said today.

In a dispatch from New York, Tass said Nikolai Fedorenko, the Soviet Union's permanent representative at the United Nations, called on U.N. Secretary General Thant and handed him a statement, Dated Nov. 7, on the Soviet position concerning the financial crisis of the United Nations.

Tass said the United States proposed in a memorandum Oct. 8 that U.N. members who refuse to share the cost of U.N. operations in the Congo and Middle East should lose their rights to vote in the General Assembly.

But the Soviet statement rejected the U.S. position, saying:

"The Soviet Union, naturally, has no intention of encouraging the aggressor, for instance, by shouldering part of the expenditures connected with the elimination of the consequences of the aggression against Egypt and the Congo."

The Russian statement said the entire history of the U.N. operation in the Congo shows it was not carried out in the interests of the Congolese people "but in the interests of the colonialists who tried and are still trying to reestablish their domination, their power over the Congolese people, to regain the possibility of plundering and exploiting the people of the Congo and their natural wealth."

The statement accused "certain countries" of using the "so-called U.N. financial crisis" to achieve "serious aims which are rather dangerous to the United Nations.

Paul Whiteman's Ex Victim Of Poisoning

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Mrs. Vanda Hoff Unger, a former wife of bandleader Paul Whiteman, has been the victim of a year-long poisoning through regular doses in her food, police disclosed today.

Police said they have issued a warrant for the arrest of her nephew, William W. Cootes Jr., 30, of San Francisco.

Mrs. Unger, 66, was reported recovering from the poisoning, which was discovered in August.

She was a noted dancer in the 1920s and 1930s. In 1922 she married Whiteman, the "King of Jazz." They were divorced in 1931. She is the mother of Paul Whiteman Jr.

Mrs. Unger has been hospitalized here since October, 1963, with arthritis and a liver ailment. Police said that during the first 10 months, she was visited daily at lunch time by Cootes, a consulting psychologist.

On Aug. 6, officers said, a nurse at Central Gardens Hospital charged that she saw Cootes pour something into Mrs. Unger's coffee. The nurse turned the tup over to a doctor, and analysis showed that it contained carbon tetrachloride, police said.

Doctors said a one-ounce dose of carbon tetrachloride would be fatal. Repeated tiny doses would cause the deterioration of a person's liver and other vital organs.

After they were told of the hospital incident, police began a lengthy investigation which resulted in issuance of the complaint against Cootes a month later. In the meantime, he disappeared.

Mrs. Unger later discovered, she said, that $30,000 worth of jewelry is missing from her safe deposit box, and about $28,000 worth of other property is missing from her estate.

Cootes has been conservator of the estate since late last year, officers said.

Besides the local warrant for Cootes, the FBI has filed a charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution against him.

Japan Prime Minister Sworn In

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's new premier Eisaku Sato was sworn in tonight along with a cabinet in which he was the only important new member.

Sato

Sato retained all the ministers in the government of his predecessor, ailing Hayato Ikeda. Two minor cabinet officials were replaced.

The retention of Ikeda's cabinet underlined the expectation that Sato would continue Ikeda's policies, including his pro-Western, anti-Communist foreign policy.

Sato, 63, an economic expert, formed his Cabinet a few hours after Parliament elected him to succeed Ikeda. After four years in office, Ikeda resigned because of a throat tumor. Both he and Sato are members of the ruling Liberal Democratic party.

Sato takes office at a time when, following Red China's atomic blast, pressures are mounting for a new look at relations with Pekings. Japan does not have diplomatic relations with Red China but would like to trade more with its Communist neighbor.

New Orleans Archbishop Is Mourned

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—More than half a million Roman Catholics today mourned the death of their archbishop, Joseph Francis Rummel, a champion of racial equality in the South's largest archdiocese.

Rummel

Church bells sounded through the city that Rummel, 88, nearly blind and almost deaf in his last years, had served since 1935—longer than any other prelate.

The German-born Rummel, who integrated parochial schools in 1962 and then excommunicated three segregationists who vigorously opposed his order, died yesterday.

Rummel, who chose for his archbishop's motto the words "to lay down my life for my sheep," closed out his days as a figure of controversy.

Cody

In Rome, New Orleans Archbishop John Patrick Cody, who succeeds Rummel, said in recent audiences Pope Paul VI had twice asked about Archbishop Rummel and called him a "great,great churchman."

Rummel, a graying, bespectacled man who walked with a cane, had been hospitalized with pneumonia Saturday. An earlier siege of pneumonia that followed a broken arm and leg had weakened his health in 1960.

The ninth archbishop of the 114-year-old diocese —an area spanning 10 south Louisiana parishes with 591,816 Catholics — Rummel will be buried in historic St. Louis Cathedral, an old city landmark.

The archbishop was born in Baden, Germany. His parents came to New York when he was 6. He was ordained in Rome in 1902 and served at churches in Yorkville, N.Y., Kingston, N.Y., and New York City before he became bishop of Omaha in 1928.

ANTI-RED TEST DUE IN SUPREME COURT

Centers Around San Francisco Longshore Official Archie Brown

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court agreed today to rule on the constitutionality of a federal law which prohibits Communist Party members from serving as union officials.

It did so by accepting for hearings a case involving Local 10 of the International Longshoremen's Union in San Francisco. The court will hand down a decision later this session.

At issue was an opinion by the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals which struck down the section of the 1959 Landrum-Griffin Labor Act on labor-management reporting and disclosure.

The circuit court decision overruled the conviction of Archie Brown who was charged with being a member of the Communist Party and a member of Local 10's executive board.

The lower court held 5-3 that the new law is an unconstitutional restraint on freedom of association. It also said that the act violated the due process guarantees of the Constitution.

The Landrum-Griffin proviso was designed to supplant the earlier Taft-Hartley requirement that union officer must sign a non-communist affidavits. The Taft-Hartley provision was ruled constitutional by the Supreme Court in 1950 but it was superseded by the Landrum-Griffin bill.

In other actions, the court:

Denied hearing to Gerardo A. (Jerry) Re, his son, Gerald F. Re, and two others who appealed their 1963 federal courts convictions in a multi-million dollar stock swindle.

Refused a hearing to William W. Turner who was fired from the FBI in 1961 because of statements he made in letters of complaint to members of Congress.

Turned down an appeal by five Philadelphia teamster union officials convicted in Pennsylvania courts of conspiring to defraud the union. The four who were refused hearings were Raymond Cohen, Joseph E. Hartsough, Abraham D. Berman and John Joseph Elco, officials of Local 107.

Let stand a ruling granting a new trial to Woodman J. Collins, a Negro sentenced to death in Louisiana for rape. The 5th U.S. Circuit Court held that the selection of the jury which found Collins guilty was improper.

Western Paper Industry Faces Threat Of Strike

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — A strike threat faced the West Coast pulp and paper industry today.

"We will go on strike if we do not have a contract by then," he said.

Contract negotiations between the union and employers started Oct. 28. Perrin said talks would continue under a three-member panel of the federal mediation and conciliation service.

Perrin said an "adamant" employer position on a management rights clause was the main item holding up progress of the talks.

Stalin Yes, Nikita No, Albania Urges

VIENNA, Austria (UPI) — Albania has called on the Soviet Union to follow up the ouster of Nikita Khrushchev with the rehabilitation of Stalin, western monitors reported today.

The Albanian Communist Party daily Zeri I Popullit said in two editorials over the weekend that the fall of Khrushchev did not mean the end of "modern revisionism," according to the monitors.

The paper also claimed the Chinese and Albanians could take credit for Khrushchev's ouster, saying it was the struggle of Marxist-Leninists against "the treason of the revisionists" which led to his dismissal.

MUCH-DISCUSSED GENERAL PLAN—This map shows land use indicated in the San Rafael General Plan, on which the city council will hold its first hearing tonight in the recreation center auditorium. Key to use is at upper right. Controversy has arisen over the suggestion for control of development of underwater lands which are subject to filling. (One part of Lucas Valley included in the map is not shown here; it continues the single-family, low-density and planned hillside zones shown at upper left.)

San Rafael General Plan Public Hearing Is Tonight

The proposed San Rafael General Plan, which suddenly stirred a pre-election hornet's nest with a feature that had drawn little comment in almost two years, will have its first public hearing before the city council at 8 p.m. today.

In expectation of a large crowd, the council has decided to adjourn its meeting from the city recreation center auditorium at 37 Union Street, which was filled once last year for a hearing on a proposal for 1,200 dwelling units on Terra Linda's Quail Hill.

The crowd is expected to result from furor which followed a charge in the recent county supervisor campaign that "San Rafael is planning to fill 2,000 acres of the bay."

The charge, by Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker in his successful campaign for re-election, apparently was based on a feature of the general plan which calls for control of filling of underwater acreage along the city's extensive shoreline.

This wast first shown in a map accompanying the San Rafael Planning Study — a preliminary to the general plan — submitted to the city in January, 1963, by consultants Dan Coleman Associates and William Spangle and Associates. The waterfront treatment drew no protest then.

In essence, the map showed how the underwater acreage, which is privately owned, could be filled without destroying shoreline and water access. Suggested were fingers of filled land with waterways between — a scheme followed in the San Rafael Cayes development which was approved shortly after the preliminary planning study was submitted, and for which Coleman was engineer.

Fill is shown, also, to support an off-shore freeway which is seen as needed in the future to carry the overload from Highway 101—after the eight lanes to which the state plans to widen it become insufficient. Coleman has estimated this will be needed about 1980.

An earlier street master plan, prepared for the city by Coleman in 1961, showed this highway offshore to a point near Glenwood, then cutting through the hills and emerging again to cross Gallinas Bay on fill and bridges. In the 1962 plan it was moved to the shoreline and offshore throughout its length to avoid the expensive and defacing hill cut.

The plan provides that the city control filling by requiring dredging of waterways and preservation of at least 25 per cent of the shoreline for public use as conditions of approval of any fill project. The map which accompanies it shows how this might be done.

The general plan has many other features. In addition to the waterfront development, it includes a proposal for developing hillsides by clustering houses and deeding open area back to the city for perpetual natural parks — thus preventing excessive scarring of the hills.

It also includes suggested locations for industrial parks (a principal one being on marshland directly south of Hamilton Air Force Base which would require fill), on street patterns, school locations, etc. Most of these were included also in the earlier planning study.

The San Rafael Planning Commission, after two public hearings which drew total audiences of 12 and 20, approved the plan and recommended its adoption by the city council. The council plans to hold at least one more hearing after that tonight.

Stop Lights For Runaways

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — North American Aviation is making a special kind of stop-and-go sign in an experiment aimed at simplifying ground control of airplanes, particularly as they taxi across other runways.

Under contract with the Federal Aviation Agency, NAA is making 25 for evaluation at Washington National Airport. Installed at runway intersections and operated from the control tower, they tell the pilot to "Go" or "Hold."

It has been found that voice controls during taxiing can be confusing to already busy pilots.

My Memory Failed Me!

A noted publisher in Chicago reports there is a simple technique for acquiring a powerful memory which can pay you real dividends in both business and social advancement and works like magic to give you added poise, self-confidence and popularity.

Absent-minded?

According to this publisher, many people do not realize how much they could influence others simply by remembering accurately everything they see, hear, or read. Whether in business, at social functions or casual conversations, there are ways to dominate each situation by your ability to remember.

To acquaint the readers of this paper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing skill in remembering anything, the publishers have printed full details of their self-training method in a new book, "Adventures in Memory" — mailed free to anyone who requests it. Bobby Baker Denies Secrecy Deal In Suit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Robert G. (Bobby Baker, former secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority, denied last night a magazine report that he settled a $300,000 lawsuit for $30,000 a month ago with the provision that it be kept secret until after election day.

Newsweek reported attorneys for Baker and Ralph Hill, president of the Capitol Vending Co., reached the agreement Oct. 5 in the men's room of the Warner Building in Washington.

Hill brought the suit, charging Baker's Servu Corp. had deprived Hill's firm of a large contract. The contract was for placement of vending machines in the Falls Church, Va., plant of Melpar, Inc., an electronics firm with government contracts. Baker was accused of using influence to get the contract.

The Newsweek report, published in ist Nov. 16 issue, said said attorney Edward Williams, representing Baker, and David Carliner, acting for Hill, agreed to the settlement while newsmen waited in a nearby room to gain information on depositions in the case.

Baker said the magazine report of the settlement was "absolutely not true" and added that he had not heard of it.

Newsweek said Williams had delayed taking the depositions as long as possible to avoid their coming into the political campaign. Baker was associated closely with President Lyndon B. Johnson when he was majority leader of the Senate and it was feared the information might be used by Republicans against Johnson.

The suit, which brought Baker to the nation's attention as an alleged influence peddler, charged that Baker received $5,600 for "securing and maintaining" the original contract for Capitol Vending and then used his influence to obtain it for Servu.

Newsweek said Walter Jenkins, the White House aide who resigned following his arrest on morals charges, and Abe Fortas, a capital attorney and political figure, had urged Williams to sheek an out of court settlement of Hills's suit.

Carliner was agreeable to a settlement but sought $100,000, Newsweek said.

On the day the depositions were to be presented, the magazine said, Carliner excused himself from the room.

"On the way out, he signaled Williams to follow—to a men's room. There the two agreed on a price—$30,000—then adiourned upstairs to Carliner's office to fix the terms. The key term: Secrecy," Newsweek reported.

Airman Is Cited For Saving Craft

An aircraft save certificate has been awarded to A/2c Dennis M. Hughes of Hamilton Air Force Base for preventing an Air Force plane from flying from the base with its flight controls locked.

Airman Hughes, an air traffic controller for the 1902nd Communications Squadron, was in the control tower at the base when he saw the danger and alerted the crew of the $50,000 craft, according to Lt. Col. Lowell F. Weyle, squadron commander.

Student Pep Pill Use Hit

AUBURN, Ala. (AP)—A prominent Auburn University psychologist warns college students against taking pep pills to help them master their studies.

"Fooling around with pep pills is foolish and foolhardy," says Dr. Harold Moon, assistant professor of psychology.

"Taking pep pills in order to take final exams casts some doubt on the stability of the individual—and sets him up for additional problems later. All of us need support at times, but not by medication."

Maine,) named Rockefeller, Romney, Scranton, Chaffee, Henry Cabot Lodge and Nixon as potential leaders.

Gov. Henry Bellman of Oklahoma listed Gov. John A. Love of Colorado, Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, Scranton and Nixon as among those who should lead in party rebuilding.

The Republicans were almost unanimous in their belief that the GOP can recover from its massive defeat and make a strong showing in 1966 and 1968.

GOP State Chairman Craig Truax of Pennsylvania said the coalition of Democratic forces now headed by Johnson "should not be formidable if the Republican party offers progressive alternatives to Democratic dogma."

"The American people inherently move away from the type of monolithic power structure they now see in Washington and will support the Republican party with renewed vigor," he said.

Few agreed with Montana National Committeeman James E. Murphy "that we'll be back in four years with our own landslide." J. Herman Saxon, North Carolina Republican state chairman, said "unless something happens to President Johnson, I wouldn't think we have much of a chance at the White House for eight years."

Colorado's Gov. Love said that "any thought that the Republican party is dead is ridiculous."

"We will pick up governorships, congressional seats and other offices in 1966 and in 1968 we will have a GOP president," he said.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho, chairman of the GOP conference of governors, said Republicans will have to concentrate on winning governorships two years from now in New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Nebraska, North Dakota, Colorado, Wyoming, Idaho, California and Oregon.

Sen. John G. Tower, (R-Tex.), said that with Johnson at the head of the ticket it is going to be difficult for Republicans to win in his state.

"If Hubert Humphrey were president there is no question in my mind that the Republicans would carry Texas," he said.

John Gromala, president of California Young Republicans and a strong Goldwater man, blamed the election defeat on party members who didn't support the national ticket.

Dr. Thomas Brigham, acting Alabama state chairman, said Republicans won in his state through a strong grassroots organization he predicted will spread throughout the South.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, South Carolina Democrat who turned Republican to support Goldwater, predicts "the pendulum will swing back."

The purse was found at 8 p.m. the same day by a 6-year-old girl, on the sidewalk in the 200 block of Third Street. It was minus the $3 but still contained the papers.

Vandals Add Insult To Injury With Act

Yank, Vietnam Soldier Play Grenade Catch

SAIGON (UPI) — An American GI who once played Little League baseball in Texas and a quarrelsome Vietnamese soldier played a deadly game of catch with a live grenade Saturday on a busy Saigon street.

The grenade did not explode. It was tossed first by the Vietnamese to Air Force S/Sgt. Pedro Gonzales of Kingsville, Tex.

"I was scared and the only thing I could think of was to throw it back," Gonzales said.

The exchange was broken up a government army patrol which opened fire on the Vietnamese grenade tosser. He escaped down a side street, carrying the grenade with him.

Tam Closed Campus Hearing Postponed

The meeting, set for 8 p.m., was called off at request of the residents to await further developments from other agencies, presumably the board of supervisors. Thirty-two residents in the Almonte area have petitioned the supervisors for a closed campus at the school, citing litter, careless smoking, and disruption of peace and quiet by students. The board is to discuss the petition tomorrow afternoon.

Arizona Is Accused Of 'Secret Water'

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—A California Congressman suggested today that Arizona has a "secret water bank account" in the Chino Valley area that could be pumped for 225,000 acre-feet of water a year without significantly lowering the water table.

The comment came from Rep. Craig Hosmer (R-Calif.) in questioning Rep. George F. Senner Jr. (D-Ariz..) at a hearing by the House Subcommittee on Irrigation and Reclamation.

The committee heard a number of prominent Arizonans urge enactment of legislation to bring Colorado River water to central Arizona.

Senner was urging that a provision for water exchanges beneficial to the eight northern counties of his district be written into any legislation.

When Hosmer made his comment, Senner said he had no figures immediately available on the underground water supply in the Chino Valley area.

Chino Valley is in north central Arizona.

Statements urging favorable action on water legislation were made by Sen. Carl Hayden (D-Ariz.), Gov. Paul Fannin, and Reps. Senner, John J. Rhodes and Morris K. Udall.

be" in the Bronx, but this is not yet certain.

Hurst predicted 100 ex-addicts a month would travel in each direction between the two coasts, once the plan gets under way.

"Our idea is to put 3,000 miles between the individual and his source of narcotics, his family and other factors — in other words, the whole environment that spawned him," Hurst reported.

He said Synanon now has a long waiting list of addicts who wish to enter one of the houses.

He said Synanon hopes the opening of the New York house will enable it to accept many more addicts, whose names now fill a long waiting list.

Hurst scored "fearmongers and hate spreaders" who, he said, are "100 per cent wrong" in their opposition to Synanon's plans for the self-contained West Marin community.

And he accused chairman Richard A. McGee of the State Board of Corrections of maintaining a "vicious" policy which has impeded the work of Synanon.

"We will be able to send hundreds of California people to New York if McGee will let us," he said.

Fenton and Hurst contended the plan would save Americans several million dollars yearly in reduced crime and by reducing the number of addicts who must be taken care of in public facilities.

They said Synanon hopes to get direct state aid in California as well as in New York.

Ryan Is Appointed Tiburon Fire Aide

Francis J. Ryan was appointed to the Tiburon Fire Commission yesterday following the resignation of commissioner Stephen H. Nash.

Nash, chairman of the Tiburon Planning Commissioned, resigned because of the press of his other duties. Commissioners meeting at 2 p.m. yesterday at the firehouse appointed Ryan to fill out the term, which runs to next April. Nash had been appointed to the commission about a year ago, replacing Fred C. Hannahs, who had resigned.

Ryan, of 1803 Lagoon View Drive, is a deputy real estate commissioner for the State of California. He has been a Tiburon Peninsula resident for seven years and is past president of Hill Haven Property Owners Assn. He ran for city council in the election in which Tiburon voters approved incorporation and ran in the September election for the Tiburon Sanitary District board.

The commission meeting was held yesterday after the regular Thursday meeting was called off for lack of a quorum.

Purse Is Stolen

Tommie Jean Andrews of 50 Merrydale Road, Rafael Meadows, told San Rafael police someone stole her purse, containing a wallet with $60 and important papers, from her unlocked station wagon parked on B Street near Third Street prior to 2:15 p.m. Saturday.

Cleaning Firm's Employee Sought

San Rafael police today hoped to question a man who worked for a cleaning firm for a week, then apparently took his employers to the cleaners.

Police said they were called at 2 p.m. Saturday after a customer entered the Suit Cleaning Center at the Northgate Shopping Center to pick up a suit and a pair of slacks. Employees were unable to find them.

The new employee, meanwhile, failed to show up for work.

Police said the suit was valued at $85-$100 and the slacks at $25.

Radio Signals Tattle: Mighty Planet Jupiter Is Wobbly

PASADENA (AP)—Radio astronomers have puzzled over intermittent bursts of low-frequency radio signals from the planet Jupiter.

Were they caused by volcanic eruptions? By lightning storms? Glenn Berge and David Morris of the California Institute of Technology's radio observatory investigated.

Two years ago they found that Jupiter's belt of radiation made an 18-degree wobble once every 10 hours. This led them to their discovery that Jupiter wobbles.

The reason, the scientists say, could be that the north and south magnetic poles of the planet are far off center. A line between them — the magnetic axis—is about 35,000 miles from the center of the planet, which has a diameter of 85,000 miles.

The bursts of radio signals are caused, it is now thought, when Jupiter's rotation brings the magnetic poles into the proper position to beam the electromagnetic radiation directly toward the earth.

The low-frequency signals are generated by the radiation sources, say Berge and Morris.

Ham Tower Again Topic Of Hearing

A radio ham's controversial plan to build a 71-foot radio tower in his yard appears once more on the San Rafael Planning Commission's agenda when it meets at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at city hall.

Commissioners earlier postponed action until city officials could decide how to properly measure the height of the tower, which Harold Bennet wishes to erect on his sloping property at 61 Crestwood Drive.

His neighbors turned out at the last meeting to protest the plan.

Also on the agenda are a proposal for a teenage recreation center, and plans for three major developments on Professional Center Parkway.

Use permit for the recreation center, at 70 Woodland Avenue, is sought by ESM Enterprises.

The parkway developments, for which architectural approval is requested, are a 99-bed convalescent hospital and two apartment complexes totaling 106 units.

Henry Albers has submitted the hospital plans. A 40-unit apartment complex is planned by Emil Damia, while Joel E. Bowman asks approval for a 66-unit complex.

Corte Madera Plan Contract On Agenda

The Corte Madera Planning Commission tonight will discuss a new contract for town planning consultants Livingstone and Blayney, and a proposal to increase membership on the town Board of Design. The meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. at the Town Hall.

Also on the agenda, carried over from a previous meeting, is discussion of revising the sign control ordinance.

Belvedere, Tiburon Councils To Meet

The Belvedere City Council will convene at 7:30 p.m. today with the Tiburon City Council at the community hall for a reception in honor of retired postmaster Mrs. Stella A. Ehrenfelt, to be followed by the regular business meetings at 8:30 p.m.

A major item on the agenda will be a committee recommendations for the Cove-Lagoon Road intersection, which would close Cove Road to incoming and outgoing traffic on Tiburon Boulevard.

Cardinal Calls For Church To Denounce Arms Race

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—A Dutch cardinal called on the Ecumenical Council today to denounce the world armament race and call for a total ban on nuclear weapons.

Bernard Cardinal Alfrink, archbishop of Utrecht, Holland, quoted the words of the late President John F. Kennedy: "Either we must destroy arms or they will destroy us."

Cardinal Alfrink made the plea during council debate on a section of the council's "modern world" document dealing with war and peace.

Before the discussion of the document, the council overwhelmingly rejected a series of propositions dealing with missionary action. The 2,200 cardinals, archbishops and bishops said the proposals were not strong enough and asked they be completely rewritten and strengthened before being placed before the council during a future session.

The vote was 1,601 to 311 for rejecting the propositions as a basis for discussion.

As it now stands, the section of the document dealing with war and peace maintains the traditional position that a "just war" to defend against unujust aggression by violence and force is legitimate. But it states the use of nuclear weapons, whose forces are "greater than can be imagined," must be condemned "as most wicked."

"Every honest effort must be made so that not only nuclear warfare mya be solemnly outlawed by all nations as an enormous crime, but also so that nuclear arms and others of like destructive force may be utterly destroyed and banned," the document states.

Cardinal Alfrink told the council the statement "on the unlawfulness of nuclear warfare should be clarified because, as it stands, it could give the impression that the prohibition is applicable only to what are known as dirty bombs, with uncontrollable effects and the text should be made to include this type also.

He added that "the council should find the means to positively denounce the world race for armament."

Ad List Injunction Gets Court Setback

Superior Court Judge Samuel W. Gardiner said today he has denied an amended complaint by Merrill D. and Joan Grohman, publishers of the Fairfax News, requesting a temporary injunction to prevent Peter Edwards, former editor, from using their confidential advertising and circulation lists to start his own publication.

Judge Gardiner said he has not decided whether the plaintiffs have the right to further amend their injunction request.

The publishers on Sept. 25 filed suit accusing Edwards of using the lists to start his own paper, the Fairfax-San Geronimo Valley-Nicasio Reporter, but filed only under the name of Fairifax News.

The court ruled the original complaint was defective in detail. An amended complaint was filed Oct. 15 by David R. Baty, attorney for the Grohmans.

This, too, according to Judge Gardiner, failed to qualify for an injunction decision since it did not include grounds stated in the original suit.

Women See Airman Leap Off Span

A 30-year-old Sacramento airman jumped from the Golden Gate Bridge at 12:40 p.m. Saturday.

His body was recovered 45 minutes later by the Coast Guard.

The California Highway Patrol said two 25-year-old San Francisco women, Debra Cornell and Carolyn Judy, saw the man jump from the rail on the bridge's east side between midspan and the north tower.

Late Saturday, the California Highway Patrol identified him as A/1c Edward K. Smith of Mather Air Force Base.

Officer's located Smith's wife by tracing registration of his car, found near the bridge. She said her husband had been under psychiatric care.

Smith was the 276th person known to have jumped from the bridge.

Rights Group Will Aid House Listings

Marin county civil rights groups will coooperate in a Bay Area-wide fair housing listing service in an effort to offset the passage of Proposition 14.

"This is no substitute" for fair housing laws repealed by Proposition 14, said Mrs. Ursula Gealey, Marin representative of the service, "but something has to be done for the people who have no place to go."

Housing listings services for minority groups are already operated independently in the five-county area, but this plan is to provide for a network of listings available in the entire area.

"We are going to need it, especially at this time," said Mrs. Gealey, who is housing chairman of the Marin Committee for Fair Play. Thirty-five Bay area rights groups attended the organizational meeting of the housing drive last week. Besides the Marin Committee for Fair play, Marin was represented by the Marin Conference on Religion and Race.

The housing listing drive in Marin will be discussed at a meeting of the Coordinating Council for Racial Equality in Marin at 8 p.m. next Monday in Department 2 of Marin Superior Court, in the county courthouse.

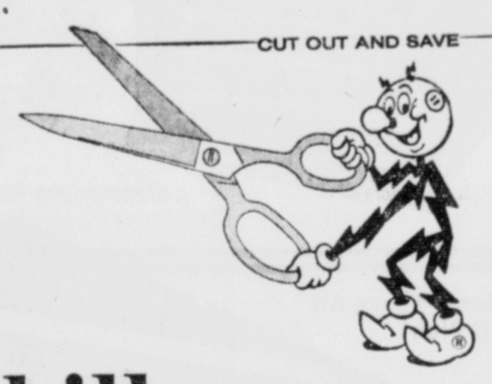
CUT OUT AND SAVE

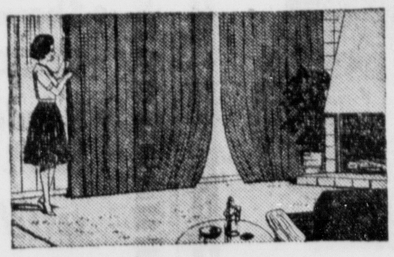


A few tips on cutting the cost of winter heating bills.

How high your heating bill goes this winter depends on how efficiently your heat is being used—because gas rates have been going down. Here's how to keep your bill down, too.

1. Good insulation pays for itself.
By insulating ceilings and floors, you'll attain a comfortable room temperature quickly—and cut heating costs as much as 30%. Good insulation is a permanent improvement which increases the value of your home—and it will probably pay for itself in just a few seasons.

2. Heat circulation requires good ventilation.
Most forced-air furnaces have an air filter that needs periodic replacement. If you take the filter out and vacuum it, you needn't put a new one in each time. You should also clean the dust and lint out of wall and floor heaters periodically to insure an even flow of air.



3. Heat dollars can go up the chimney and out the window.
An open fireplace damper lets cold air in and warm air out. Close the damper whenever the fireplace isn't in use. Heating dollars also go out the window. The glass of a big picture window, for instance, can take away 16% of your heat. Close the drapes or curtains in cold weather.

4. Weather strip now, be warm later.
Weather stripping around windows and doors will plug heat leaks and keep out drafts. A door jamb may require a metal strip which can take the constant friction of opening and closing. Loose windows may need thick felt stripping.

5. Control temperatures (and tempers).
No two people like the same temperature. Agree to set your thermostat at, say 69° (a "healthy" temperature)—and leave it there. If Junior says he's cold, have him put on a sweater. Frequent changes in room temperature mean a bigger heating bill.

6. A little light on your winter bill.
Cold weather increases your use of gas or electricity for space and water heating. Your winter PG&E bill will also reflect shorter days, longer nights, an increased use of lights, TV and more cooking. In addition, new appliances and conveniences further increase the size of your average PG&E bill.

Our greatest service

Providing dependable gas and electric service at the lowest possible rates is our most important job. Since 1961 there have been 3 major reductions in PG&E rates. Today, the typical household customer pays less than 30 years ago for the same amount of gas and electricity. Which means PG&E service is a bigger bargain than ever.

Police In San Rafael Plagued By Vandals

A rash of petty vandalism, including pellet shots through windows, plagued San Rafael police during the weekend.

The pellet gun complaints came from Donald J. Patton of 2936 Center Road, Novato, and Lawrence Mazza of 215 First Street, San Rafael.

Patton said he left his car sitting all day at 309 Maple Street, then returned at 11:10 p.m. to find the left rear window broken.

Mazza told police he and his wife were watching television at 11:10 p.m. when someone shot two holes in the living room window.

Another shattered car window was reported by Vincent S. Yoder of 329 Forbes Avenue, San Rafael, in front of his home between 12:30 and 1 p.m. Saturday.

Marin County sheriff's deputies said they learned from Patricia L. Hughes of 78 Novato Street, San Rafael, that someone broke her car's left front window between 8 p.m. Saturday and 12:30 a.m. Saturday as it sat in front of 20 Wolfe Grade, Kentfield.

Two other citizens complained to San Rafael police that they had been victimized three nights in a row.

Charles W. Kuath of 825 Las Gallinas Avenue said someone repeatedly bent signs and threw trash in his swimming pool, as well as breaking flowers and pots at another apartment.

George J. Sanborn of 400 Canal Street, Apt. 132, said he had to return to the telephone company three times for replacement of the antenna for his car telephone.

Breakfast Speaker

Vernon A. Libby, manager of the San Francisco Better Business Bureau, will speak on the bureau's objectives at the breakfast meeting of the Marin County Real Estate Board at 8 a.m. tomorrow at Dominic's Restaurant, San Rafael.

Someone Makes Self Right At Home In Marin House

Someone has been making himself at home in Leo Denger's weekend place in Santa Venetia, he complained to sheriff's deputies Saturday.

Denger, who lives in San Francisco during the week, said he went to his 505 Vendola Drive home Oct. 31 to find someone had broken a front window and scattered cigarette ashes on the floors inside—but took nothing.

He covered the broken window with paper, he said and took all valuables back to San Francisco.

Returning to Marin Saturday, Denger found the paper was gone.

The unknown intruder had again entered the house, this time frying bacon, taking a shower, and watching television before leaving.

Denger said his unwanted guest left dirty dishes and more ashes—but again took nothing.

Three Hurt In Triple Collision On Highway 101

Three Marinites were hurt in a three-car rear-end crash on Highway 101 a mile south of the Corte Madera wye at 7:15 p.m. Saturday.

Injured were Charles P. Walker, 66, of 207 Belvedere Drive, Strawberry Manor; Thomas Nelson, 71, of 60 Mirabel Avenue, Mill Valley, and his wife, Helen Nelson, 65. All were treated at Marin General Hospital.

Nelson and Walker suffered facial cuts while Mrs. Nelson complained of back pains.

The California Highway Patrol said Walker's southbound car was third in a string including those of Marston L. Bowbeer, 46, of San Francisco and Camillo M. Corte-Real, 54, of 317 Ross Drive, Tamalpais Valley.

Walker was to be cited for excessive speed and following too closely.

Canal Area Resident Rushed To Hospital

Peter Wicor, 46, of 555 Canal Street, Apt. 2, San Rafael, was treated at San Rafael General Hospital at 3:52 p.m. Saturday for an apparent heart seizure, according to San Rafael police.

Wicor was given first aid at his home by the San Rafael Fire Department, then taken to the hospital by ambulance.

Pay TV Ends For 2 Cities In California

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Pay television programming will be suspended to some 6,000 subscribers here and in San Francisco tomorrow evening —one week after California voters elected to outlaw pay-TV.

Sylvester L. (Pat) Weaver Jr., president of Subscription Television Inc., set the date for ending transmissions in an announcement yesterday.

Weaver, a former NBC chief executive, said he expects to win a legal battle by proving that the ballot Proposition 15 passed by a 2-1 margin last Tuesday violates freedom of speech and equal protection clauses in the Constitution.

The company filed a suit with the State Supreme Court Friday in an effort to prevent the proposition from becoming state law. A 117-million dollar lawsuit filed last December against proponents of Proposition 15, including a group of movie theater owners, has yet to be heard.

Weaver said the final three days of programming this week would be without charge. He said the 4,000 subscribers in the West Lost Angeles area and the 2,000 in San Francisco would get a rebate of $5, collected as an installation fee for the program selector.

Programming began July 17 in Los Angeles and Aug. 14 in San Francisco.

Tachometers Are Thief's Target

Two residents of the same apartment building turned in reports of stolen tachometers early yesterday.

Sheriff's deputies said Robert L. Leoni of 777 Meadowsweet Drive, Apt. 120, just outside Corte Madera, reported his $25 "tach" had been taken from his car sometime during the past two months, while it was not running.

Thomas E. Switalski of Apt. 208 said the tachometer from his boat, parked outside the building, disappeared between 10 and 11 p.m. Saturday.

Yule Party

Plans for a Christmas party for handicapped children from 2 to 6:30 p.m. Dec. 13 at the Corte Madera Recreation Center will be made by the board of directors of the United Cerebral Palsy of Marin Assn. at a meeting in the board room of Terra Linda Valley Hospital at 8 p.m. today, according to Judson E. Goodrich of San Rafael, president.

Synanon Foes Seek To Halt Operation

While Synanon Foundation Inc. is considering incorporation at its Marshall rehabilitation center, two property owners are seeking to have operation halted for lack of use permit.

An appeal to start action against the operation of Synanon House in Marshall is scheduled to be made before the Marin County Board of Supervisors tomorrow.

H. Morgan Noble and Blair McDonald, Tomales Bay property owners, have notified County Clerk George H. Gnoss they will ask the board to order the district attorney to start action against Synanon for operating without a use permit.

The owners specifically ask for "abatement and enjoinment of the non-conforming use" of the Marshall property by Synanon.

Synanon failed to obtain a required use permit for its operation and the matter was referred to the district attorney's office for enforcement.

The matter will be discussed at 11 a.m. The board meeting will begin at the Civic Center at 9 a.m.

County supervisors also will consider setting a policy limiting outside employment by county employees.

They also are scheduled to receive a recommendation from County Administrator Alan Bruce that a new fair and auditorium board be appointed in the next few weeks to participate in the planning for the auditorium and fairgrounds.

Rear-End Crash Hurts Motorist

Stanley Friedman, 40, of San Francisco was treated at Marin General Hospital for neck pains after his car in which he was riding was hit from behind on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near Lagunitas Road, Ross, at 4 p.m. Saturday.

Ross police said Friedman was in a car driven by Albert Pollack, 48, of San Francisco, struck by that of Richard A. Knowland, 27, of Berkeley.

Knowland told police he looked away and did not see Pollack stop when the traffic signal turned red.

Realty Unit Tells Of Prop. 14 Aid

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The president of the National Assn. of Real Estate Boards says his group gave financial aid to proponents of the controversial housing initiative, Proposition 14, which won almost 2-1 in California's election last week.

And, said Ed Mendenhall, the association might offer similar assistance in some of the other states which he said have laws designed to bar discrimination in housing.

Mendenhall said Proposition 14 was aimed at halting "forced housing." He said the association backed proponents of the measure with a $100,000 loan.

Mendenhall gave the opening address to the association's five-day convention yesterday. While he spoke, the Congress of Racial Equality picketed outside the downtown hotel, carrying signs protesting real estate groups' support of Proposition 14.

Said Mendenhall:

"Forced housing is as unwise and as unworkable as the Volstead Act (which enforced prohibition). NAREB supported the California Real Estate Assn. in its fight to win voter approval of Proposition 14, which was designed to repeal portions of the Rumford Act, because we are in complete and utter opposition to forced housing."

The initiative amends the state constitution to give owners absolute discretion in the choice of a buyer or renter of their real property. It also nullifies anti-discrimination provisions of the Rumford Act which restrict the property owners' discretion, and blocks their reenactment except by another constitutional amendment.

Governor Says State In Need Of Dentists

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown told the American Dental Assn. today that California needs about 372 new dentists a year to keep pace with the state's population growth.

Brown said that last year "some 372 California dental students went to other states to study dentistry. Many of these students may not return as graduate dentists to California. Yet we must provide just about that number of new dentists every year to keep up with the needs of our new citizens in the future."

The governor's prepared remarks were made in Civic Auditorium at the opening of the 105th annual convention of the ADA. About 25,000 dentists were expected to attend the four-day meeting.

Brown said the problem of keeping the dental profession adequately supplied in the state is under study by the Coordinating Council for High Education. "Seven precticing dentists and the deans of all California's dental schools have made up a committee to advise the council staff. Their final report will be presented to the council later this year."

To keep up with the state's dental needs, Brown said, "the University of California will need to add at least four dental schools within the next 10 or 20 years."

Brown added:

". . . We will maintain our emphasis on high quality at the existing dental schools. The School of Dentistry on the San Francisco campus of the University of California is the oldest dental school in the West.

It has graduated about 3,500 dentists since it was established in 1871. . . .

"In the south, the new School of Dentistry at UCLA has just opened on schedule . . . This school is part of a large Center for the Health Sciences which assures the best use of facilities and faculties for education in all parts of the health professions."

War Memento Gems Stolen

NEW YORK (UPI) — As a memento of battlefield honor and courage, the Seventh Regiment's Book of Remembrance had sentimental value not assessable in terms of money. But its gold-burnished, bejeweled cover was worth $75,000 and it therefore fell prey to men more impressed by wealth than valor.

Two hooded gunmen sneaked into the regimental armory off Park Avenue yesterday, handcuffed a guard and battered open the case containing the book enshrining the names of the regiment's 840 war dead. They ripped the cover from the volume and fled, leaving the book itself amid splinters of glass on the floor. A 24-inch gold-threaded bookmark also was stolen.

The night watchmen was found handcuffed and bound with tape to a banister by the morning relief guard. He said he had been taken by surprise by the armed men in an armory office.

Noting the ease with which the bandits gained entrance to the armory and their knowledge of exactly where the book was located, police suspect the crime may have been an inside job. Not discarded was a theory that the young men, believed to be in their 20s, may have been members of the national guard brigade which inherited the old Seventh Regiment's effects and traditions.

The book of remembrance's gold cover was ornamented with five jeweled coats of arms. In the center was the diamond-studded, Seventh Regiment Cross of Honor. Surrounding it were the coats of arms of the United States, Britain, France and Belgium. The Regiment's own coat of arms was on the back cover of the book, both sides of which were clustered with gems.

GOV. BROWN BACK FROM SOUTHLAND

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Mrs. Brown have ended their six-weeks, stay in Los Angeles and returned to Sacramento.

The governor told newsmen yesterday he and his wife would make their Los Angeles stay annual from now on, instead of every two years.

The Browns were in Los Angeles for his 1962 gubernatorial campaign, but went to Europe last year.

"It is proper that the governor have a regular opportunity to meet with groups in the southland," Brown said.

Adenauer Speaks In France Of Unity

PARIS (UPI) — Former West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said today a United Europe based on close friendship between the two former "traditional enemies," France and Germany, is vital to world peace.

"The world situation demands from these two great European peoples collaboration in the construction of Europe," Adenauer said. "This is necessary in the tumultuous development of our world both in the political and technical fields."

Adenauer, 88, spoke at a ceremony at the Institute of France, where he was admitted as an associate member of the 130-year-old academy of moral and political sciences. The same honor was accorded in the past to Sir Winston Churchill and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

French President Charles de Gaulle attended with four of his cabinet ministers, as a special mark of distinction for his "old friend" Adenauer. It was also an apparent slap at Adenauer's successor, Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, with whom de Gaulle has been feuding lately.

Erlier, Adenauer had a 45-minute private talk with de Gaulle at the Elysee Palace. He said he attempted "to try to clear up the problems existing between France and Germany.

LOVE TRIUMPHS

Romeo-Juliet Story Ends Happily For This Couple

NEW YORK (AP)—What started out to be a Romeo and Juliet tragedy has culminated in a happy ending for Israeli Hym Menasha Frenkel and British-born Dianne Brandon.

Frenkel, 25, wanted to marry Dianne, 26, but his mother, Anne Frenkel, reportedly hotly opposed the marriage.

Thanks to a New Jersey man, legal obstacles were swept away and the couple was married Sunday night at the home of Rabbi Louis I. Newman.

Frenkel came here on a tourist vise, switched to a student visa and then violated that visa by taking a job. When he sought permission from his mother to marry Dianne, according to Frankel, his mother notified the U. S. Immigration and Naturalization Service of his visa violation. She flew here from Israel last Monday.

Frenkel was taken into custody. Bail of $1,000 was set. Mrs. Frenkel refused to post bond.

Jack Spiezer, a retired clothing manufacturer of Englewood Cliffs, N. J., read of Frenkel's plight. Spiezer is a Jew. His wife, Lucille, is an Italian Roman Catholic. They have three children and six grandchildren.

Spiezer brought a $1,000 U.S. government bond as collateral for Frenkel's bond. Frenkel was released Sunday afternoon and he and Dianne were married. The bride promised to take instruction in the Jewish religion and raise their children in that faith.

William Esperdy, district director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, said Frenkel would have 30 days in the United States before he could be forced to leave.

But, Esperdy indicated, the marriage to Dianne, about to become a U. S. citizen, could change the terms of his stay.

There was no word from Frenkel's mother, said to be staying somewhere in Connecticut.

After Mr. and Mrs. Spiezer put up Frenkel's bond, Dianne told them: "You don't know how happy you've made me."

Replied Spiezer: "I only hope you'll be as happy as we are."

New School Sites On Novato List

The Novato Unified School District board will go ahead with the district's building program, delayed pending passage of state school bonds in the general election, at its meeting at 8 p.m. today in the administration building.

Purchase of the San Marin high schcool site on San Marin Drive and the junior high school site at Wilson Avenue and Vineyard Road will be authorized.

The trustees will also call for bids for additions to Novato High School which will bring that school up to 1,800 student capacity. They will discuss a name for the Pleasant Valley elementary school.

Kentfield Trustees To Review Bonding

The Kentfield School District board will review district bonding capacity and priorities for future construction at its meeting at 7:45 p.m. today in the Wolfe Grade School library.

The board will also consider an agreement with the Larkspur Corte Madera joint recreation commission for a Saturday recreation program at Greenbrae School.

Study Needed To Learn Pollution Dangers To Bay

The proposed San Luis Drain, a project to dump agricultural waste waters from the Central Valleys into San Francisco Bay, could have a serious effect on the future of Marin County.

For that reason, we urge that the project be held up, at least until enough evidence has been provided to show that pollution from the agricultural wastes will not seriously contaminate the waters of the Bay.

The Drain, being designed by the Bureau of Reclamation, Department of the Interior, is a proposed canal that would start near Kettleman City, head northwest for about 190 miles, and flow into Suisun Bay at Antioch, Pittsburg or Port Chicago, thence into San Francisco Bay.

The purpose is to dispose of subsurface drainage and irrigation water from farm lands in the valley. The water contains minerals, fertilizer wastes, and insecticides. The removal of these land pollutants will definitely benefit the valley and make lands more suitable for agriculture.

We have nothing against improvement of agricultural lands. But we would have objections if the project were to contaminate our waters and harm fish and wildlife in San Francisco Bay, on which Marin County depends so much for its natural beauty and recreation.

Federal authorities say that at the first sign of bay pollution, corrective action would be taken. The Bay Area Water Pollution Control Board replies: "Once you get the drain in, you'll never get rid of it."

Even federal officials are not fully in accord.

Officials of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare warn that the Drain is premature because the future consequences have not been studied adequately.

The Assn. of Bay Area Governments is taking a similar stand—opposition to the San Luis Drain, pending studies of future consequences.

Other alternatives have been suggested. One would be to have the drain dump in the ocean outside the bay. Another is to carry the waste water in a tunnel through the mountains, discharging off Monterey Bay.

Sen Thomas H. Kuchel and Rep. John F. Baldwin (R-Martinez) have asked for an appropriation of $300,000 to the Public Health Service for a pollution study of the Bay. Rep. Don H. Clausen (R-Crescent City) of the First Congressional District has joined in that request—for a study of pollution before the construction of the San Luis Drain.

We do not oppose the Drain project as such. But we feel that it would be wiser to study the effects of the drain on bay waters before the project is started.

Marin is already up in arms over the problem of bay filling. We do not want to be saddled with yet another threat to one of the county's biggest natural assets—an unpolluted bay.

Lament For A Dead Jack-O-Lantern

Only last week your eyes were bright with fire, your smile radiant and toothy, and small children cried out in delight at your beauty. It was a glorious one night stand.

Now you are sitting forlornly atop the garbage can, dull-eyed, a wan smile on your face and a lump of dead wax where your heart should be. Your inside black with candle smoke, all your warmth and sparkle gone.

But if pumpkins can dream or have a kind of immortality, we know which night you will remember with joy through all eternity.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Election Hurt Brown, Unruh May Be Warming Up To Pitch

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Twice this year elections have served to sap the prestige of Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who nominally is the head of the powerful Democratic Party in California.

In the primary election, Brown cast his backing to Alan Cranston, state controller, for the U.S. Senate nomination. Cranston in turn was beat out by Pierre Salinger.

SO BROWN DID an about switch on behalf of party unity, and not only backed Salinger for the post, but appointed him when a vacancy occurred. Along came George Murphy, Republican candidate, and defeated Salinger by almost a 200,000 margin.

Then Brown's second failure in Tuesday's election was Proposition 14, which he opposed, as he said, with everything he had. So the proposition carried by two million votes.

On the credit side of Brown's political activity is the Johnson victory and the passage of the three bond issues, which will put the state in additional debt of face value 790 million dollars plus the interest the public will be forced to pay. It is wholly probable these three propositions would have passed no matter who held the governor's chair.

Thus, the election appears to indicate that the governor's prestige as a party leader, as well as with the people of the state, started deteriorating last spring with the primary election.

TUESDAY'S ELECTION only served to enhance this deterioration, with two of the really big issues going down the drain for the governor.

In view of the circumstances, Democratic Party leaders might well cease comments about what's going to happen to the Republican Party, in view of the tremendous national vote, and wonder what's going to happen in California to their own party.

Loss of Salinger to the Democrats in the U.S. Senate will not be lightly forgotten by national leaders of the party, who may begin to wonder whether Governor Brown would be acceptable for appointment to any federal office.

And loss of the key issue, Proposition 14, heavily supported by Democratic Party leadership in California, may cause some of the party leaders to wonder whether the prestige, attached usually to the governor as a vote-getter, is in this case any prestige at all or merely a liability.

ALL OF WHICH can result in some heavy thinking during the next few months concerning a new candidate for the governorship of California.

It is a known fact that Speaker Jesse Unruh of the Assembly is not a man to be satisfied with the prospect of remaining speaker of the house for any great length of time.

Unruh is exceptionally equipped with political know-how. He is also an astute political observer. A day before the election, he issued a release on the outcome, and scored on every point he made. He has built up an organization within the Democratic Party organization, and has the support of most of the Democratic assemblymen.

SO IF THERE ARE upsets in Democratic leadership, Speaker Unruh is the man to watch.

Editorial Cartoon Branded Idiocy

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I have suffered your wretched editorial cartoons for two years in order to keep up with events in Marin County. The universally clumsy style of your stable of cartoonists is exceeded only by their inability to get things straight. Courts Must Rule On Proposition 14

Editor, Independent-Journal

Last May, just after Law Day, 1964, the Independent Journal was kind enough to print a letter of mine in which I expressed the view that "the road to the vindication of the fair housing laws will not be easy." Now, after Election Day, 1964, it is clear that we have travelled but a small part of the way down that long and difficult road. The immediate next step is both clear and unhappy; the ones beyond it neither certain nor pleasant. The real agony is about to begin.

Because there is no way in which it can avoid the issue, the California Supreme Court must next pass upon 14. Because it will not have any more reasonable choice before it than the voters did, its decision, whatever that may be, will surely not be the last word. Neither the Court now, nor the electorate last week, was able to choose that, and only that, which was the true occasion for the initiative: the withdrawal of the one family home from the coverage of the Rumford Act.

If the Court strikes down the initiative, it will leave standing that which the electorate has rejected by a two to one margin. If it upholds 14, it will approve that which none but the narrowest of opportunist real estate interests intended: virtually complete legislative de-control of that industry.

It seems certain that at the end of a long, divisive and conscience-searing struggle we will have fair housing legislation which exempts single family dwellings from at least the administrative control features of the Rumford Act. But the price of that struggle, put so high by the vagaries of the present system of initiative, will have been too great to pay.

Those who are devoted to sound constitutional government in California must embark at once upon a twofold course: (1) the restoration of legislative power in the area of fair housing, which power will obviously be prudently used in light of the vote on 14, and (2) the modification of the initiative system to make possible something other than the all-or-nothing choices with which the electorate is faced on a shocking number of occasions. Amid a legislative session already sure to be rocked by the reapportionment and tax reform battles, this objective will not be easily carried out. Nevertheless, it must be done.

Senator Kuchel Called Democrat

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It's unfair to criticize Senator Thomas Kuchel for not endorsing George Murphy for the U. S. Senate.

I submit that a Democrat is under no obligation to support a Republican. In the contrary, doing so would constitute party disloyalty.

Rail Official Voices Thanks

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The substantial "Yes" vote on Proposition No. 17 is now history.

Please allow me to convey my personal thanks, as well as those of the Santa Fe Railway, to you for the substantial editorial interest and support which you gave to this particular proposition.

Your actions were an important contribution in the elimination of a wasteful practice and I am sure your readers profited by your conclusions.

Again, your support was welcome as well as vital.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

State highway builders allocated 2.4 million dollars for construction of the Alto cloverleaf and buying property for interchanges at Corte Madera and Greenbrae.

A Placerville man was trapped for 15 minutes in his water-filled car after it went off the Black Point Road into a slough. He was rescued and brought to San Rafael General Hospital.

Mrs. Blanche Hickey of Novato won $150,000 in the Irish Sweepstakes. Her ticket on a 66-1 longshot horse named "Minstrel" had been bought in San Rafael.

20 YEARS AGO

Paul Henley, a chief boatswain's mate from San Rafael, spoke with President Franklin D. Roosevelt aboard a destroyer, telling him he planned to marry a Tiburon girl who lived with a family the head of which was an avid fisherman. Roosevelt later sent the angler a reel, line and assortment of fishhooks.

Two new Nash sedans went into operation as police cars for the City of San Rafael. The city council instructed Fire Chief Walter Castro to draw specifications for a new 750-gallon fire engine, since the government had given the city priority to buy one.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

ONE OF Abraham Lincoln's favorite stories of the frontier people concerned a housewife who resisted the blandishments of a traveling minister determined to sell her an illustrated Bible. "I've already got one," she insisted. Challenged to produce it, she ransacked the cabin but could only find a few scattered pages of the New Testament. The minister cackled, "Ah, hah!" but the woman stuck to her story. "We've got one," she repeated, "but I had no idea we were so nearly out!"

When accosted by wildeyed fans, Garry Moore has become so accustomed to waving genially and hurrying on, that one evening, when a strange man materialized out of a fog, poked him in the ribs, and mumbled something unintelligible Garry slapped him on the back, and said, "You betcha, Buddy." Fifty feet down the block, he suddenly realized what the stranger had said. It was, "Stick 'em up!" He turned, terrified, to see the would-be holdup man running just as fast as he could, with a gun in his hand, in the opposite direction.

CAMPUS HUMOR:

1. "That Tony is fresh," complained Anne to her Wellesly roommate. "He knows too many off-color songs." "Does he sing them to you?" asked the roommate. "Not exactly," admitted Anne. "But he whistles them."

2. Junior: Your grandfather's rather deaf, isn't he?

Soph: Is he though! Last night he led the evening prayers while kneeling on the cat.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Goldwater Undertow Sinks GOP Shipmates; Party Itself At Fault

LYNDON JOHNSON'S massive and monumental triumph will be getting the headlines for days to come — and will deserve them. He widened the nation's political center across the country and today stands in the middle of it with popular support which will match if not exceed FDR's in 1936.

It is possible to overstate the size and significance of President Johnson's victory.

It is hardly possible to overstate the size and significance of Sen. Barry Goldwater's defeat.

He has sunk the Republican Party to the most disastrous and crushing defeat since it came into being.

IT IS MORE than a partisan defeat because it has for a period—how long no one can say—devastated the two-party system.

Republican senators and congressmen, though they widely ran ahead of the national ticket, were drowned by the Goldwater undertow.

The way things now stand, the Republican Party cannot be an effective balance in the new Congress, which will be so one-sided that you can hardly see the opposition with the naked eye; it will have lost its voice as well as its power.

I AM NOT overlooking the positive side of Mr. Johnson's tremendous political achievement. He set out to win big—and he did. He set out to win votes from Republicans—and he did. He set out to prove that he was the very embodiment of the national consensus—and the voters proved him right.

Senator Goldwater earned his nomination and deserved to get it. If there be blame for what happened—and there has to be blame somewhere — it rests squarely on the shoulders of the whole Republican Party and its national leadership.

It gambled on the great untried experiment — and that experiment failed all the way. The experiment was to nominate an all-wool and three-yard-wide conservative on the assumption that a "real conservative" — not Eisenhower's "dime store New Deal," as Goldwater described it—would galvanize millions of new, hide-away voters to come to the polls.

MAYBE IT DID—but they voted for President Johnson.

How calamitous was this ultra-experiment — an experiment which Republican national conventions have consistently rejected since 1932? How does one measure the scope of Goldwater's rejection and its blow to the GOP?

In election after election every Republican presidential nominee has significantly run ahead of his party—ahead of the other Republican candidates—until Nov. 3, 1964. Senator Goldwater ran significantly behind his party — behind nearly every other Republican candidate. He ran behind the few Republican winners. He ran behind most Republican losers.

And he carried many down to defeat with him.

Mr. Goldwater carried five Deep South states which have traditionally gone Democratic. But he has lost at least three times as many traditionally Republican states, all of which Richard Nixon carried in 1960.

NO REPUBLICAN presidential nominee in this century has lost by such a massive popular majority.

This is no disgrace to Senator Goldwater. He fought for the nomination and won it fairly. He fought for the election and lost it because the vast majority of the American people did not agree with him.

The decision that Mr. Goldwater was the right man at the right time for the right reasons was the decision of the Republican Party. It was wrong all the way. It earned its defeat.

IT WILL HAVE to start picking up the pieces today.

Khrushchev Facing Purge Spectacular

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The new Soviet leaders are preparing to bring deposed Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev to trial.

A MAJOR announcement is expected from the Kremlin this week setting the final stage for the coming Khrushchev trial and banishment.

The Soviet leaders' delayed statement on Khrushchev's ouster will list the "crimes" he allegedly committed against the state and the Communist Party.

That's the unpublished estimate of the new Kremlin's rulers' intentions prepared by U.S. intelligence authorities and being circulated among members of the National Security Council, highest U.S. policy-making body.

These intelligence experts report the crackdown on Khrushchev is going to be much more severe than originally thought.

Like the discredited Stalin, Khrushchev will be loudly denounced for developing the "cult of personality," and then implicated in many of the bloody purges that he accused Stalin of being responsible for in the '30s.

The trial is being engineered by two Soviet leaders who conducted the pre-war purges for Stalin, Mikhail A. Suslov, 62-year-old party theoretician and the most powerful man in the Kremlin, and Boris N. Ponomarev, his 59-year-old party coworker.

UNTIL HIS PURGE TRIAL, Khrushchev is being held under house arrest in a villa just outside of Moscow.

U.S. intelligence authorities report that all requests by Western diplomats to see the former Soviet leader have been refused by Premier Alexei Kosygin and Leonid Brezhnev, the party's first secretary.

All these Soviet officials will say is that Khrushchev will get his day in court — Russian style.

Other Soviet government sources have revealed to British diplomats that Khrushchev is free to move about his villa, but is constantly accompanied by two KGB (Soviet secret police) to see that nothing happens to the former Kremlin boss.

MAJOR FOREIGN problems with explosive international ramifications are piling up for President Lyndon B. Johnson.

In the past three weeks, the Central Intelligence Agency has sent more than a dozen reports to the president showing that Soviet-made arms have arrived or are en route to Cyprus, the Congo, Bolivia, Algeria, Indonesia, Cambodia and North Vietnam.

Arms shipments to Cyprus by the new Soviet leaders include anti-aircraft guns and tanks flown to the Mediterranean island aboard Russian cargo planes.

A FLEET OF SOVIET missile-torpedo boats is reported en route to Cyprus aboard Soviet bloc ships. Cyprus naval personnel are being trained in their use both in the Soviet Union and Cairo.

In Cambodia, Soviet anti-aircraft guns and six MIG-17s have shown up on newly-constructed airfields in the interior of that country.

The new Soviet arms are believed to be part of the Kremlin's strategy to discourage the U.S. from resorting to a policy of "hot pursuit" to chase attacking Viet Cong Communist guerrillas across the South Vietnam border into Cambodia.

Tamalpais Looms Important In Lives Of Mill Valley Folks

LIVING UNDER the mountain, so to speak, we are always conscious of its 2,605-foot face.

This past city council meeting in Mill Valley, several speakers on the Cascade Reservoir subject suggested more ways to open trails to those people who climb the mountain.

And those appearing in favor of reopening the Bernard Street steps told of the importance of the chutes to the week-end mountaineers.

The other day we were invited by Alan Fitzgerald, 68, one of Mill Valley's oldest Tamalpais climbers, to hear about his recent exploits in Canadian mountains.

The former Londoner noted first off that it was the Fifth of November of Guy Fawkes Day.

WHAT'S THAT, we asked, and he replied, "Please to remember,/treason and plot./ I see no reason/why gunpowder treason/should ever be forgot."

This celebration, in which children are permitted to fire firecrackers, dress up in old clothes and wear masks, recalls the plot to destroy the King of England in 1605 by placing gunpowder under the House of Lords in revenge for penal laws against Catholics.

Fitzgerald spent his climbing days in the Forbidden Plateau area of British Columbia on Vancouver Island, he said, and added, "If you want to get cut down to size, go there."

Whereas Tamalpais is steep, dry and gravelly, Canadian trails are not. A green and rainy land, one must climb rocks, over dead trees and sometimes find oneself "ankle-deep in gooey mire," said he.

CARRYING A 30-POUND pack, Fitzgerald said he stayed in cabins sometimes, in the open other times and was guided around dangerous mud "sink holes." It is cougar and bear country but he saw none.

The climber, who said he has climbed Tamalpais to the summit at least 50 times and doesn't know a trail he hasn't covered on the mountain more than once, said Vancouver is wonderful but there's no place like Mill Valley.

On his wall are John Muir's words: "Climb the mountains and get their good tidings. . . ."

"He (Muir) and Justice Douglas are my patron saints," said Fitzgerald.

"God is very good to me," he added, "that I can do that kind of thing at 68."

We wished him a happy Guy Fawkes Day and left.

IT'S THE DAY of the contact lens. A few nights ago my wife and I suddenly found ourselves on the bumpy rug, a neutral, with our two guests looking for a lens accidentally dropped. After an hour, we gave up. The lens was also natural and, next morning, it was found under the couch.

Another friend told us the story of a woman at a luncheon who suddenly began digging around in her cottage cheese and fruit salad with her fork, searching, searching, searching. "What's wrong?" asked our friend. "I've lost my lens," the woman replied. "I know it's in here."

The latest story was Saturday last when another lens gal, a looker, was in the corner grocery. She said a woman kept flitting back and forth by her and finally came up and said, "Pardon me, are those blue lenses or your real eyes. They're beautiful." Thanks, said the looker, my eyes are blue.

BILL REMAK says he did not sell any Goldwater or Johnson posters at his Sausalito Glenn 5 and 10 but did sell 36 "Ringo for President" posters. "It's a straw in the wind, I believe," he said, confiding he had no other posters on sale.

Chamber Still To Serve Marin

The California State Chamber of Commerce is moving its headquarters from San Francisco to Sacramento next fall, but the move will mean no reduction in service to Marin business people, chamber official Walter J. Brown of Ross said today.

Brown, statewide public relations director, said chamber services to Marin will still be available from the North Coast District office in Santa Rosa, or from the Central Coast District office in San Francisco, which will expand after the September move.

Pentagon Ban On Free-Loading May Starve Workers To Death

WASHINGTON—The Department of Defense has recently put out an edict in regard to conflict of interest between Defense Department personnel and government contractors. Under the new ruling a Defense Department employee cannot accept any gratuity or entertainment "including lunch" from anybody doing business with the government. He may not even accept tie clasps, calendars or paperweights.

THIS ORDER has naturally caused quite a flurry at the Pentagon. Most government employees are angered that their bosses think they can be bought with a meal or a tie clasp.

We went over to the Defense Department to talk to some people about it. One employee said, "I think it's a disgrace. I would never give out a contract for a Polaris submarine just because someone bought me lunch. Dinner maybe—but not lunch."

Another employee said, "My work in the Defense Department depends on an up-to-date calendar. For years my calendars have been supplied by defense contractors. Now with the new order I won't know what day it is. How can I do a good job?"

A general with procurement said, "This work is no fun, but one of the things that has made it worthwhile are these satellite tie clasps. They want us to be neat around here, but how can you be neat if you can't keep your tie in place?"

OF COURSE, the Defense Department is really out to prevent contractors from influencing defense officials with more expensive gifts such as week ends in Florida, yacht cruises to Bermuda and vacations in Paris.

"There is only a small minority in the Defense Department who would accept an expensive gift from a contractor," an official told us, "but I don't know why we should suffer just because the majority won't do it."

Another employee told us, "They're not going to stop influence-peddling no matter what they do. A contractor called me the other day and said, 'If I don't get the order, I'm going to tell McNamara I had lunch with you at Trader Vic's.' I told him I had never eaten a meal with him and he said it was his word against mine. So I had to give him the order."

NOT ONLY ARE the Defense Department employees furious about the edict, but most Washington lobbyists are up in arms. If the Defense Department forbids entertaining, there is no way for the lobbyists to pad their expense accounts.

"We're going to have to raise our fees if we can't make it on expenses," a lobbyist told us, "and you can imagine what that will do to the economy."

Another lobbyist said Secretary McNamara was endangering the health of his employees. "Defense Department people get $16 a day expenses.

ONE EMPLOYEE seemed to have the perfect solution to the problem. "I agree that contractors should not be allowed to provide lavish meals and expensive gifts to government employees. The only fair thing would be for the Defense Department to give them to us. In that way we could do our jobs without being influenced from any outside source. And everyone would be happy."

NEW SAFETY TIRES — These photos show closeup view of Goodyear studded tire (lower right); tire throwing up spray (top), and marks left by studs on ice. Studded tires, which manufacturers say are safer, may be declared illegal in more than half of the United States. (UPI photos)

'Safer' Winter Tires Are Tested —But Might Be Declared Illegal

By DONALD J. RETTIG

NEW YORK (UPI)—A tire designed for safer winter driving may be illegal in more than half of the United States.

The big three tire manufacturers—Firestone, B. F. Goodrich and Goodyear — and some smaller firms recently put studded tires on the market. They are sold in 14 states: Washington, Nevada, Oklahoma, Kentucky, Tennessee, Maryland, Missouri, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine, Ohio and New York.

But shortly after the marketing announcement the New Jersey Motor Vehicles Division warned its motorists that use of studded tires in the state was illegal and could draw a $10 to $20 fine. Then a state police spokesman pointed out that anyone driving through New Jersey was subject to the same penalty.

The New Jersey outcry raised the issue that a safer winter tire may be illegal in many states because of vague and possibly outdated laws. The law written in 1912 says "no motor vehicle tire shall be fitted with any blocks, hobs, studs or other projections . . . " It does not define such devices.

The studs, made of tungsten carbide and covered with steel, or in some cases plastic, are inserted by hand with a pressure gun into holes molded into the tire. Installation plus the cost of the studs adds a premium of from $6 to $10 to the cost of each tire. The tire manufacturers recommend use of studded tires on all four wheels for maximum safety on ice and snowy roads—in snow tires on rear wheels and in regular tires on the front.

The manufacturers claim increased starting traction on ice and snowy roads—in snow tires on rear wheels and in regular tires on the front.

The manufacturers claim increased starting traction on ice of from 71 per cent to 200 per cent and stopping distances improved from 50 per cent to 70 per cent.

The studs, some of which protrude 1/16 inch from the tire surface and others are flush, are forced to protrude further when the tire is distorted by braking or accelerating. They dig into ice like a mountain climber's boot. The studs are blunt-edged, much like a golf shoe cleat.

Goodyear said that test cars using tires on all four wheels and traveling at 20 miles an hour made panic stops on ice in 39 feet.

The National Safety Council gives these stopping distances on glare ice for a car traveling at 20 miles an hour: Regular tires 195 feet; snow tires 174 feet; regular tire chains 99 feet and reinforced tire chains 77 feet. The council pointed out that a car will travel another 22 feet under the same conditions because of driver reactions time—the average three-quarters of a second it takes a motorist to see the need for braking and get his foot on the pedal.

Comparing the stopping distances required with various tires, studded tires seem to be safer. The NSC still is testing them.

Even under Communist rule, restaurants in Peking have extravagantly flowery names — "Unbounded Virtue and Happiness," for example, and "Accumulated Virtue."

Stage Set For Marin Grid Title Showdown

Independent-Journal Sports

Monday, Nov. 9, 1964 13

By RALPH CHATOIAN

The stage is set for the Marin Athletic League football showdown, although half the cast almost didn't make it to curtain time.

The showdown will be between Drake and Terra Linda high schools, both teams with identical 8-0 records. They'll be battling for the MAL championship next Saturday night at 8 o'clock in Kentfield.

The Pirates of Drake barely made it 8-0. The scrappy San Rafael Bulldogs fought gamely before falling to Drake, 7-0, Saturday afternoon on a soggy College of Marin field in Kentfield.

Drake scored its touchdown in the opening quarter and then held on to keep the Bulldogs out of scoring range. The battle was witnessed by about 2,000 prep fans. Some of those "fans" were Terra Linda coach Pete Linn, his staff and players on the Trojans team who rested the weekend with a bye. They, of course, were keenly interested in the game.

Drake got a big break early in the game and took advantage of it to score a touchdown, fortunately for the Pirates. On the first series of plays from scrimmage, Drake was forced to punt from the San Rafael 47-yard line.

Larry Stein booted the ball and it took a high bounce on the 18. San Rafael's Don Curry stuck up a hand and the ball touched his fingers and sailed past him to the 9 where Drake's Bob Foti fell on the ball. It was first and goal to go for the Pirates.

Fullback Joe DeMasi showed that you don't give Drake a break like this and not get hurt. He powered his way through left guard on the first play and moved the ball to the ½-foot line. He got the ball through left guard again, and this time bulled his way for the score. The Pirates used the play again, DeMasi over left guard, for the extra point. Now it was going to be up to the Pirates defense to hold San Rafael, because the Drake offense was to play its worst game of the year, being very flat.

And the defense really took over, holding the Bulldogs of San Rafael to a minus-five yards on the ground and 39 in the air for a net 34 yards. On six occasions, the hard-charging Drake defensive line crashed through San Rafael's pass defending blockers and dumped the quarterback for losses, five times Jay Widmer biting the dust and the other time finding Ken Lampert on the seat of his pants.

Putting on that charge were ends Brian Palmer and Doug Manual, tackles Lee Jamison and Steve Schafer, guards Bill Hickerson and Bob Edelstein, and linebackers Gerald Feickert and Bruce Trimble.

On a surprise play in the third quarter, Drake scored another touchdown only to have it called back because of a clipping penalty. With fourth down and one yard to go on its own 35, Drake sent its regular punter, Stein, back in deep punt formation. But instead of kicking, Stein, a speedster, started running around his own right end, picking up some fine blocking from his teammates. He ran all the way to the end zone, 65 yards away, but the ball came back to the line of scrimmage because of the clipping penalty.

Stein, still with fourth and one on the 35, tried the same play again, but this time he was swarmed over by the white-shirted Bulldogs, who drew a personal foul on the play but still took over possession of the football on the 35. But after a couple of big losses, San Rafael

LAZZARINI'S AVERAGE—Drake High School halfback Dean Lazzarini (23) tries a run around right end but is stopped after only a one-yard gain by San Rafael defensive back Joe Cunningham in the fourth quarter of their game Saturday afternoon in Kentfield. That gain was exactly what Lazz averaged in eight carries, one yard.

Prospectors' Prospects Worsen; First Draft Pick Only Prize

Randol

You saw it on free television. Pay television wouldn't have made it look any better. And when the San Francisco 49ers review the films of their 24-7 loss to the Minnesota Vikings this week it will look even worse.

It didn't take the Niners long to establish the pattern for the day with Dave Parks fumbling on the first play and the Vikes scoring just two plays later. From there things went from bad to worse.

John Brodie had one of his worst days at quarterback for the 49ers. Sub George Mira was little better although he did throw the long pass to Parks that gave the Niners their lone score in the fourth quarter.

As usual, the front defensive line of the 49ers did a good job containing the Viking running game through the middle, but the secondary leaked like a sieve. As usual, tackling was atrocious, and imagination nonexistent.

If coach Jack Christiansen doesn't give up in sheer disgust, he will have a few choice words to say to his players this week. Jack was simmering last week. After yesterday's exhibition he should reach a full rolling boil.

THE ONLY bright spots of the day were the play of Mike Lind and Gary Lewis at fullback. An educated guess would be that you might see these two in the same backfield next week with Lewis taking over the punchless halfback spot.

The much advertised showing of Abe Woodson in the offensive backfield came and went with one play as Abe ran into one of his own blockers and came a cropper. That will probably be that for this season.

FUTURE PROSPECTS are grim. The Niners must play Green Bay at Kezar this Sunday, then meet Chicago, Baltimore, Los Angeles and Detroit in that order. If you can find a glimmer of hope in that array you had better bring it to light right now.

The only possible win would be over the Chicago Bears who are matching the Niners for losses game for game. The loser of that contest (contest?) will probably qualify for first draft choice, and I wouldn't put it past coach-owner George Halas of the Bears to see that he gets it.

Insult was added to injury yesterday when the L.A. Rams-Philadelphia Eagle game was televised right after the 49er game. The Rams are resurgent with a team that features 13 rookies while the Niners continue to flounder in the pit. Do I make myself clear?

Sorry 49ers Turn To Youth Movement

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Coach Jack Christiansen may begin to look hard at his younger players for the remainder of the 49ers' football season.

After yesterday's 24-7 loss to Minnesota, Christiansen speculated that he might give the youngsters a chance to break in for next year's campaign. Green Bay will be here Sunday.

"We looked good in the exhibition season and up until the last couple weeks," he said. "Then we had bad days the past couple weeks. It's partly a state of mind. The fellows get down and can't get up."

The 49ers were very "down" in Minneapolis. Not until late in the fourth quarter could they break into the scoring column. An 80-yard touchdown pass from rookie quarterback George Mira to Dave Parks was all San Francisco could muster throughout the afternoon.

The Vikings compiled a 24-0 lead at halftime, then settled back and let the defense do the rest.

Quarterback Fran Tarkenton fired 18 passes in the first half, completing 12 for 195 yards and three touchdowns.

On the first offensive play of the game the 49ers' John Brodie hit Parks on a 10-yard pass, but Parks fumbled and the Vikings' Rip Hawkins ran the fumble to the San Francisco 15 where Minnesota scored two plays later.

Less than three minutes later the Vikings had another touchdown. This time they swept 74 yards in five plays, Tarkenton hitting Hal Bedsole on a 30-yard pass and following with another 30-yarder to Bill Brown for the tally.

The fourth time Minnesota had the ball it settled for a Fred Cox 22-yard field goal, but on the fifth offensive series the Vikings bagged another touchdown. They moved 80 yards in 10 plays with Tarkenton's 19-yard pass to Tommy Mason setting up a three-yard scoring pass to Jerry Reichow.

Brodie completed 8 of 26 passes for 102 yards before Mira replaced him for the final quarter.

Tommy Davis had three field goal attempts from the 40, 47, and 40-yard lines and missed them all.

The loss put the 49ers in a last-place tie in National Football League standings with the Chicago Bears.

Packers Rip Detroit, Help Streaking Baltimore Colts

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Sometimes you just keep trying to get better vision, and you take a step and there it is—a wide open field ahead."

Quarterback Bart Starr of Green Bay was talking about his rare running which helped the Packers to a 30-7 victory over Detroit yesterday.

But Starr could just as easily have been referring to what the Packers' triumph might have given the Baltimore Colts in the National Football League's Western Conference — a wide open field ahead.

The Colts crushed the defending champion Chicago Bears 40-24 for their eighth straight victory and opened up a 2½-game lead over the Lions and the Los Angeles Rams.

The Packers might have been right up there with the Colts but for a few points they didn't score earlier in the season. Baltimore and Minnesota each beat them by one point while the Colts overwhelmed them a second time by three points. Green Bay, now 5-4, has lost only one other game.

The Packers' latest victory enabled them to put together their first two-game winning streak of the season.

Starr's running, an unusual sight, had something to do with the triumph. The veteran passer picked apart the league's toughest line for 40 yards in three carries. Two of those dashes helped Green Bay to a touchdown the first time it had the ball.

LEAVES SAFETY

Starr twice left the questionable safety of his backfield blocking and scooted between Detroit defenders for 32 yards during that 65-yard drive. On one of the runs he gained 14 yards to the Lions' eight and put Detroit's great linebacker, Joe Schmidt, on the sidelines.

Schmidt, trying to grab Starr, possibly dislocated a shoulder.

Asked about his running, Starr — not yet about to challenge Jimmy Brown — explained:

"When they put that much pressure on you, you have to run. I was scared to death. We're not out there to run, but those things happen."

In other games, Cleveland dumped Washington 34-24, St. Louis outlasted Pittsburgh 34-30, Dallas dumped New York 31-21, Los Angeles got by Philadelphia 20-10 and Minnesota bounced San Francisco 24-7.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

In the American Football League, Buffalo whipped New Yorkl 20-7, Kansas City walloped Oakland 42-7 and San Diego downed Denver 31-20.

Jim Taylor capped that opening drive by plunging the last yard for the score. Less than three minutes later he rambled 84 yards for another touchdown. Paul Hornung contributed three field goals and Starr a touchdown pass before Detroit finally scored with nine seconds left on Milt Plum's 23-yard pass to Gail Cogdill.

The Colts, who mauled the Bears 52-0 earlier in the season, tallied 16 points before Chicago scored. Three field goals by Lou Michaels followed a two-yard touchdown smash by Lenny Moore. That score gave Moore an NFL record of 12 consecutive games in which he has scored a touchdown.

Cleveland's Brown recorded his 101st touchdown and passed for another as the Browns maintained their two-game lead in the Eastern Conference. Sonny Jurgensen tossed three scoring passes for Washington, two to Bobby Mitchell.

IMPOSING LEAD

Substitute Bill Nelsen threw two Pittsburgh touchdown aerials in the fourth quarter, but St. Louis already had built an imposing lead on two scoring passes by Charley Johnson and Dale Meinert's 18-yard touchdown run with an intercepted pass.

New York contributed to Dallas' victory by losing the ball five times on pass interceptions and fumbles. The Cowboys' Don Meredith helped by throwing three touchdown passes, two to Frank Clarke.

Los Angeles moved into a second-place tie with the Lions in the west by holding Philadelphia to one touchdown — King Hill's 24-yard pass to Ollie Matson. Les Josephson set up the Rams' first score with a 75-yard run to the Eagle 11.

U.S. Entries Sweep Paralympic Honors

TOKYO (AP) — U.S. Entries swept into the second day of the 1964 paralympics today, grabbing handfuls of medals in the 22-nation championship.

Ron Stein of O'Fallon, Ill., headed the rush for the medals, winning three gold, one by capturing the D division club throwing, discus and javelin.

The United States had 20 medals — five gold, eight silver and seven bronze — with Britain second with nine — four gold, four silver and one bronze.

Italy and South Africa each had eight medals, with the South Africans winning four gold ones compared with three by the Italians.

South Africa's D. Erasmus accounted for four of his country's medals, placing first in the A division discus and shot put and second in the club throwing and javelin.

U.S. officials were confident the United States would sweep both the complete and incomplete paraplegic divisions of the basketball tournaments.

The United States is defending champion in the incomplete division and finished Second to Britain in the complete division in the 1963 championships in England.

The Americans won their first matches in both divisions Monday, troucing Japan 60-6 in the complete classification and beating Argentina 53-16 in the other division. Britain beat France 24-18 in the complete event but lost to Italy 11-49 in the incomplete classification.

"Britain undoubtedly also has a strong team in the complete division, but we're confident that we'll win both events this year," said the head team coach, Seymour Bloom of Elmont, N.Y.

He said the complete division team has been strengthened by the inclusion of sharpshooting Bill Johnson of Long Beach, Calif., selected an All-America by the U.S. National Wheelchair Basketball Association.

Morton Snares Coast Passing Mark

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—With two games remaining in his collegiate career, California quarterback Craig Morton now holds the Pacific Athletic Conference career touchdown passing record.

Morton, a 6-4 senior, fired two touchdown passes Saturday in Cal's loss to Washington to bring to 36 his total touchdown tosses.

That breaks the mark of 35 set a week before by Oregon quarterback Bob Berry, against Washington. Berry was sidelined with injuries Saturday's in his team's tie with Washington State.

Morton also is closing in on two other PAC career marks, both set by Washington's Don Heinrich in 1952.

Morton has 313 career completions, just 22 shorts of Heinrich's record, and trails Heinrich in career yardage gained passing by 361 yards—4,029 to 4,392.

JACK DANIEL'S NEW SAWMILL makes it a little easier for us when we make the charcoal that smooths out our sippin' whiskey.

We always smooth out our whiskey with Charcoal Mellowing just the way Jack Daniel did. And that calls for seeping every drop down through 10 feet of rick-burned, hard maple charcoal. So when our old sawmill gave out, we built this one. We even put in a sawdust burner, and now our sawyers don't have to shovel up sawdust and carry it away. But you can count on their making sure that's the only change.

Novato Turns Back Redwood; Marin Tars Walloped

Otis Leads The Hornets To Tough 12-6 Victory

By PAUL MILLER

The Novato High Hornets can thank their obstinate tailback Dick Otis that today they are in sole possession of third place in the Marin County Athletic League.

By the same token the Redwood High Giants can "thank" Otis for fourth position in the prep football league.

Novato's iron man carried the leather in more than 30 plays—about one half Novato's offensive total — to edge out the Giants in a 12-6 thriller last Saturday.

Coach Marlin Olsen's Hornets now have a 3-2 MCAL record, Coach Bob Troppmann's Giants, a 2-3 mark.

Lest the iron tailback get too much glory here, three key plays that gave Novato its opportunities should be reported. The plays occurred in the scoring quarters: The second and fourth.

1. Hornet tackle Steve Coontz recovered a fumble by Redwood on the Redwood 24 with about 4 minutes remaining in the first half. From that spot Otis pounded the Giants' line for four successive plays before he went in from the 15 on a fourth and one situation.

2. A Redwood receiver bobbled a 10-yard pass in Novato territory on a fourth and three situation with about a minute and one half left in the game and Redwood a touchdown behind.

3. With one-half minute remaining in the contest, Redwood again had the ball in Novato country. Giant quarterback Scott Murphy threw a go-for-broke pass with the intention of tying up the game. But Novato defensive back Tom Corder made a key interception at about his own 20 and even poured some salt into the Giants' wound by running the ball back 10 yards. Corder's interception climaxed a skillful afternoon on his part.

ROWELL SCORES

Novato's other touchdown had come about four minutes before Corder's interception. Fullback Ron Rowell scored on a one-yard header after a 59-yard march in 16 plays, 10 of which were run by Otis, who also accounted for three of four first downs during the march.

The most-commendable-offensive-assault-by-a-team award goes to Redwood for its successful drive to tie up the game with less than two minutes left in the first half.

With the count 6-0, Novato's favor, hard running Giant back Tom Sather clipped off a five yard trot to start his teammates on a 77-yard onslaught to tie the game by the halftime. Although Ken Tucker took over the running chores for the remainder of the drive, and although quarterback Murphy and pass receiver Bill Kilcoyne combined to keep the ball moving, a Redwood tackle was credited for the comeback to touchdown.

EXCLUSIVE CLUB

Redwood was at the Novato 2, first and goal to go. Murphy called a keeper, but he didn't keep; he fumbled. An alert Redwood tackle, Frank Gable, recovered the loose ball and scored to become a member of the exclusive Linemen's TD Club.

The game's outstanding defensive players included Novato's Greg Sulser, Brice Sullivan (who also hustled on offensive), Bill Coots, and Rowell, middle linebacker.

Among the top Redwood defenders were Charles Davis, Dan Salata, and Kilcoyne (who is also left offensive end).

Some 2,500 fans were treated to a parade of Novato homecoming queen candidates and class floats during the halftime activities.

Redwood and Novato each have a game remaining this season.

CADET STAR SETS SCHOOL GRID RECORD

Roger Ulrich became the first gridder in the 75-year history of San Rafael Military Academy to gain more than 1,000 yards in a single season Friday when he rolled up 135 yards against Lick Wilmerding.

The Cadets won the game, 19-7, to bring their record in the Bay Counties League to 5-0 and insure at least a tie for the championship title. Another victory next weekend in their final game will give them undisputed possession of the title, as all the other teams in the league have lost at least one game.

Halfback Ulrich, in making SRMA history, has gained a total of 1,041 yards this season in eight games. After losing their opening game, the Cadets have won seven straight.

Drake Edges San Rafael; Title Showdown Saturday was firmly forced to punt from its own 46.

The closest San Rafael ever got to the Drake end zone was to the Pirates' 23-yard line after a 17-yard pass play from Widmer to end Tim Witt, let in the first half. But after a pair of incomplete passes and a loss of 8 by Widmer, the Bulldogs tried another pass on fourth and 18 from the 31. Stein intercepted on the five and ran it back to the 26 just before the gun sounded to end the first half.

San Rafael might have had more of a running game Saturday with halfback Tim Harr, the team's leading ground gainer, in the lineup. But because of an off the field incident earlier in the week, Harr was not allowed to suit up.

But you never know how a team's leading runner is going to do. Take halfback Dean Lazzarini of Drake for instance. Going into the game Saturday, he was the league's leading rusher with a seven-plus average per carry. But against San Rafael, Lazzarini gained only eight yards in eight carrys for a one yard average. DeMasi was the big gun for the Pirates with 84 yards in 17 carries, the Bulldog's defense giving up ground grudgingly.

San Rafael gained possession of the ball twice on defense, Dave Cooley recovering a Drake fumble and Curry intercepting a pass, but the Bulldogs could not capitalize on either break.

A reporter asked Drake coach Bob Franceschini after the game if he thought the scrap would make his boys realize they are going to have a real tough time next Saturday against Terra Linda.

"If this doesn't, nothing will," was his answer.

Cassius Causes Traffic Jam; Liston Shoulder Passes Test

BOSTON (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay caused a small traffic jam on Commonwealth Avenue today when he appeared for preliminary weigh-ins and medical examination for his Nov. 16 title bout with Sonny Liston.

Clay wore coveralls bearing the words "bear huntin'." He calls Liston the "Big Bear."

The champion ran out onto the island in the middle of Commonwealth Avenue and ran up and down the tracks. He stopped a couple of street cars moving along the reserved center strip and also a few trucks, in each case inquiring of their operators, "Have you seen the Bear?"

The traffic jam was beginning to grow when police appeared and restored order.

Dr. Nathan Shapiro, Massachusetts Boxing Commission physician, pronounced Liston in perfect health. The doctor gave Liston's left shoulder a particularly careful examination and said it appeared in fine shape.

It was the left shoulder which made it impossible for Liston to go beyond the sixth round in the fight in which he lost the title to Clay.

Clay arrived holding a rope with harness attached — plainly intended for the Big Bear.

Some of his entourage then poured honey on the steps leading to the boxing commission's office.

Clay cried out to his brother, Rudolph Valentino Clay: "The Bear will lose again. We only wounded him last time. Tell him to get the cage, get the cage."

Clay then ran over to the promoters of the fight and said: "I'm the promoter of this fight." The bout is scheduled for Nov. 16.

U.S. Might Get Another Olympic Gold Medal

HELSINKI (AP) — The United States would get another Olympic gold medal, if a yachting protest is upheld.

So reported the Swedish morning newspaper Huvudstadsbladet today, contending that a Swedish boat which won the bronze medal in the Star Class may be disqualified.

If so, the entire standings would be revised.

The contention is that Pelle Pettersson's boat Humbug may have used an illegally constructed keel.

Hufvudstadsbladet said:

"Should a protest against Humbug be lodged and accepted this would mean great changes in the results list — silver medal winning United States would get the gold, Finland silver and Bahamas the bronze medal.

"Pettersson had a protest on him last year and this year has two Swedish helmsmen protesting against a sister boat to Humbug, Bums from Goteborg."

Brave Execs In Atlanta?

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta Journal said today that two executive officers of the Milwaukee Braves baseball club will come to Atlanta later this week to sign a 25-year stadium contract.

The contract, when signed, would assure the southern city of major league baseball beginning in 1966. The Braves had planned to move to Atlanta next season, but the National League directed them to play out their contract in Milwaukee.

The Journal quoted Thomas C. Reynolds, executive vice president of the Braves, as saying that the baseball executives would be in Atlanta either Thursday or Saturday.

The newspaper reached Reynolds by telephone in Phoenix, Ariz., where he and other Braves officials were attending a National League meeting.

Reynolds said the Braves had already planned to sign the lease before the league action.

Vancouver May Replace Dallas In Coast League

SEATTLE (AP) — The president of the far-flung Pacific Coast Baseball League said yesterday that officials of the 12-team circuit are considering a replacement for Dallas.

Dewey Soriano, head of the PCL, said upon his return from a league meeting in Casa Grande, Ariz., that the Vancouver Mounties are a possibility.

"Dallas has notified the league that it doesn't plan to operate in the league in 1965—there's nothing written, but it's been discussed.

"We'll look into it and then decide our plans. Vancouver is one of the cities being considered. But until I get a chance to talk to Nat Bailey, president of the Mounties, I won't be able to say anything further."

Soriano said not much business was handled in the Arizona meeting "because there are not too many pressing problems."

He said the league will open the season April 15 in Hawaii, take the next day off and then the remainder of the teams will start. He said the team to play Hawaii hasn't been decided.

Soriano said the league will hold its main meeting in Houston, Tex., Nov. 30.

"We'll be 12 clubs again next year, of course," he said. They stretch from Indianapolis to Hawaii. He was asked if the circuit was considering Tokyo as a member.

"That'd be a good one," he said, "a good one."

It Hasta' Be Shasta In 39-29 J.C. Game

"Everything went wrong."

"That's a very concise explanation by College of Marin football coach Dick Read concerning what happened when the Tars traveled to Redding last Saturday to play the Shasta College Knights.

Shasta celebrated its homecoming with a 39-20 victory over the Tars, College of Marin's third defeat against one victory in Golden Valley Conference action this season.

"We went there to have a good bus trip and a nice dinner," lamented Read. "We made all kinds of mistakes in the game. That's what beat us. We should have beat this team, but our own mistakes beat us."

By halftime, the Tars were down 32-6. Three big reasons for this were:

1.—Three Tar defenders had the ball carrier trapped on the game's opening kickoff, but he managed to elude them as other Tars figured he would be stopped. He ran past the dumbfounded Mariners and wasn't stopped until he reached the Tar 3-yard line. Two plays later Shasta scored its first touchdown.

2.—Shasta tried a third down pass from the College of Marin 40, a deep one in the end zone. Instead of batting the ball down so the Tars would force a punt, a defender tried for the catch instead and a Shasta man wrestled the ball away for a touchdown.

3.—A Marin gridder tried to make a catch of a Shasta punt on his own 3—violating a cardinal rule that says you don't try to catch a punt behind your own 10—he fumbled the ball and a Shasta man recovered setting up another touchdown.

FIRST HALF

All that happened in the first half.

Marin scored its first touchdown in the second quarter on a six-yard run by Bob Washington. The TD was set up on a 55-yard pass play from Les Wisner to Craig Bond. Then in the third quarter, the Tars drove 65 yards with John Handly crashing for the score from the four.

Early in the final period, Marin put together a drive of 75 yards for the third Mariner touchdown. Washington scored his second TD of the day with a 19-yard scamper around his own right end. Rich Bottini added a two-point conversion through right guard.

Next for College of Marin will be its final game of the season Friday night in Santa Rosa against the very strong Bear Cubs at 8 o'clock. Santa Rosa leads the conference with a 4-0 record.

NATIONAL COLLEGE FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

Notre Dame-Alabama Bow Showdown?

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Notre Dame vs. Alabama — this is beginning to look like the prize post-season bowl package, but the question is: Who's going to get it?

Sponsors of both the Orange and Sugar Bowls are drooling at the mouth just thinking about such a pairing but realize a lot of intricate pieces first must be fitted into the jigsaw to make it possible.

Both Notre Dame and Alabama face perhaps their most critical tests this week. The Irish are host to a rebounding Michigan State team which hasn't lost to the South Benders in 10 years. Alabama goes against a tough and bitter rival, Georgia Tech, at Atlanta.

If the two survive, they might well finish 1-2 in the national standings. Notre Dame sources have indicated the Irish might abandon their long time anti-bowl policy if a national title situation presents itself.

The Orange and Sugar Bowls apparently are the only ones with a chance of landing such a glamor game. They have no strings, whereas both the Rose and Cotton Bowls are bound by conference commitments.

Notre Dame and Alabama saw their hopes for a national title strengthened Saturday when second-ranked Ohio State absorbed a staggering 27-0 beating at the hands of Penn State, a team that had lost four games.

Four other members of the Top Ten — Georgia Tech, Louisiana State, Florida and Purdue — also lost, narrowing the list of championship candidates and hot bowl prospects.

Only five major teams were left with unbeaten and untied records. Besides Notre Dame and Alabama, these include Arkansas, Nebraska and Princeton.

Arkansas is headed for the Cotton Bowl at Dallas, Nebraska is bound to wind up some where on Jan. 1 and Princeton wouldn't be caught dead in a bowl game.

The Rose Bowl is still up in the air. Oregon State or Southern California is likely to be the host, playing Ohio State, Michigan or Purdue. Ohio State could clinch the Big Ten championship and the bowl bid Saturday with these not improbable circumstances — a Buckeye victory over Northwestern coupled with losses by Michigan to Iowa and Purdue to Minnesota.

The top-ranked Fighting Irish, 17-point favorites, had a close call against big, powerful Pittsburgh and won by the margin of Joe Azzaro's 30-yard field goal in the second period 17-15. Pitt was stopped at the Notre Dame 16 late in the game.

"This was good for us," Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian said. "The main thing is we won."

"This should show all those critics who say Eastern football is no good," said Coach Ben Schwartzwalder of Syracuse, whose Orangemen beat Army 27-15 to remain a strong bowl candidate.

Penn State, beaten by Syracuse, completely crushed Ohio State, limiting the Buckeyes to five first downs and 63 yards. The Nittany Lions scored in every period.

Third-ranked Alabama won its eighth straight game in beating eighth-rated Louisiana State 17-9. Arkansas, No. 4, overpowered Rice in the rain 21-0. Nebraska, No. 5, moved toward the Big Eight title by edging Kansas 14-7.

Sixth-ranked Texas, beaten only by Arkansas, rallied on a late Marvin Kristynik pass for a 20-14 triumph over Baylor. Georgia Tech, No. 7, lost to Tennessee 22-14. Florida, No. 9, fell before Georgia 14-7 and Purdue No. 10, bowed to Michigan State, a team whose hopes it had wrecked on numerous occasions, 21-17.

Princeton moved nearer the Ivy League title with its seventh straight victory, a 16-0 decision over Harvard. The Tigers can wrap it up Saturday at New Haven by beating Yale, 21-9 winner over Penn.

Two conference championships were decided. Alabama clinched the Southeastern and West Virginia put a lock on the Southern title by topping George Washington 20-19.

Hard times continued for Navy and quarterback Roger Staubach, when Maryland's Kenny Ambrusko ran back a kickoff with 2 minutes, 38 seconds to go for a 27-22 upset.

By DEREK SCHOEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

With only two more weeks of play remaining, the Pacific Athletic Conference race goes to the wire with four of eight teams still in contention.

Leading the PAC into the final two games are Oregon State and UCLA, but Southern California remains hot on the Rose Bowl trail with defending champion Washington given an outside chance.

Oregon, cruising along with an unblemished record only two weeks ago, appears out of the race after being tied 21-21 by Washington State on Saturday.

The Ducks now have a 1-1-1 conference mark with only one loop contest remaining—the season finale against Oregon State.

Oregon State, after whipping Indiana 24-14 Saturday for the sixth straight Beaver victory, could end the season with a 4-0 conference record by beating Stanford this Saturday and arch-rival Oregon the following week.

Southern Cal, 3-1 in conference play after Saturday's 15-10 defeat of Stanford has a week off before meeting UCLA Nov. 21. USC must beat the Bruins to remain in contention.

The Bruins, 2-0 in league play but only 4-4 overall after falling 24-15 to the Air Force, need to beat both USC and Washington to remain a Rose Bowl contender.

Washington, surging back after a disappointing start, now stands 3-2 in the conference and could end with a 5-2 loop mark—if the Huskies can down UCLA and then Washington State.

Washington bettered California 21-16 Saturday in a game that wasn't as close as the score indicated. The Huskies stuck to the ground in building a 21-3 fourth-quarter lead before Cal's Craig Morton tossed two touchdown passes to bring the Bears close. Morton completed 20 of 30 passes for 189 yards but was thrown for 75 yards in losses by the rugged Washington defense.

Sophomore quarterback Mike Brundage, subbing for the injured Bob Berry, connected on 20 of 36 passes as Oregon rallied in the final period to tie upset-minded Washington State. Cougar quarterback Mike Cadigan, also a sophomore, had a big day with a scoring pass and a 75-yard touchdown run.

Halfback Mike Garrett scored both Southern Cal touchdowns as the Trojans topped an error-plagued Stanford team. Fumble recoveries set up both Trojan tallies and another stopped an Indian drive in Troy's territory in the final period.

Paul Brothers tossed touchdown passes of 46 and 5 yards and scored on a six-yard run as Oregon State topped Indiana. The Hoosiers, next week's Oregon opponent, scored two early touchdowns for a 14-14 half time tie and became the first team to score twice in the first half against the Beavers this year.

UCLA's line couldn't contain a corps of fleet Air Force backs as the Falcons rambled for 382 yards on the ground in beating the Bruins. It was UCLA's fourth loss in its last five games.

Outside the PAC, hard-luck San Jose State nursed a 3-0 lead into the final period but finally fell 14-3 to opportunistic Colorado State. The Rams recovered a San Jose fumble on the Spartan 2 to set up the winning tally.

'TWAS ROUGH OUTING FOR BAY SAILORS

Sailors braved the stormy sea and winds that reached 25 knots yesterday in the second of a four-race series of the Corinthian Yacht Club's Mid-winter Regatta.

Jack DeWitt of the host club won the race with his Optimist. Bill Harpster's Amberita II was second, Wayne Cliff's Pali third, and Douglas Russell of the San Francisco Yacht Club, fourth.

Russell lost his rudder in Racoon Strait, anchored, and swam to shore to pick up another. He swam back, replaced the rudder and finished the race.

Lester Vs. Morales In S.F. Bout

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Hilario Morales, a veteran middleweight with a reputation as a "spoiler," tries to enhance that title tonight when he takes on undefeated Jimmy Lester at Kezar Pavilion.

Lester carries a string of 14 victories — including 11 knockouts—into the battle. The promising young San Franciscan's most recent knockout came six weeks ago against Charlie Norriega.

Morales, fighting out of Los Angeles, ended the promising career of San Francisco's Bobby Sanders with a knockout two years ago.

The National Boxing Club is sponsoring the scheduled 10-rounder, the feature of a card that starts at 8:30.

Warriors Depart With Big Victory

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Warriors took off on a rugged five-game road trip today with a much needed victory under their belts, thanks to a pair of old reliables named Wilt Chamberlain and Al Attles.

Wilt, although officially fatigued as he tries to play himself back into shape after a bout with a stomach ailment, put away 41 points last night while the Warriors defeated the New York Knicks 130-121. And Attles broke through with numerous slashing layups for 32 more points in one of his finest performances.

"Starting at Philadelphia Tuesday night we must play five road games in seven days and needed a good victory to leave town with," coach Alex Hannum of the Warriors said afterward.

"Attles was just fantastic. And Wilt never ceases to amaze me. He's worn out but you'd never know it."

Wilt broke an 11-11 tie in the first period and this started the Warriors on a 19-8 splurge which put them ahead for the night. Then Attles hit with 11 crutch points in the second period to further ice things after the Knicks had cut the Warriors' lead to five points.

Guy Rodgers, the Warriors whirlwind guard, sprained a finger on his left hand during the third period and sat out the rest of the game. He hopes to be ready to play Tuesday in Philadelphia.

The youth, Everette Hawthorne, had remained in critical condition since being admitted to the hospital.

Hawthorne attended Mobile County Training School. He suffered a neck and back injury.

Raiders Blasted By Kansas City

OAKLAND (AP)—The Oakland Raiders probably will be without the services of guard Wayne Hawkins when they entertain the Houston Oilers Sunday at Frank Youell Field.

Hawkins was believed to have suffered a concussion in the third period of Sunday's game won by the Kansas City Chiefs 42-7.

The Raiders also were hurt in the first quarter by the loss of veteran split end Art Powell, who reinjured a thigh muscle.

Without Powell and against a strong Chief defense, Oakland quarterback Cotton Davidson, who had thrown 11 touchdown passes the past three weeks, couldn't mount much of an attack.

The only Raider score came midway in the second period with Kansas City leading 21-0. Davidson hurled a touchdown pass to Ken Herock just before the half time whistle.

It was Oakland's seventh loss against one victory and a tie, and left the Raiders in third place, well behind the Chiefs.

Veteran Abner Haynes had another big day for the Chiefs, setting up two touchdowns with a 39-yard run and a 68-yard pass play.

Quarterback Len Dawson hurled four touchdown passes, two to tight end Fred Arbanas for 38 and 28 yards, one to rookie Mack Lee Hill, who scored a second time, and one to Haynes.

Canucks Score Comeback Victory Over Seals, 4-3

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A pair of goals by Bev Bell in the third period led Vancouver to a 4-3 comeback victory over the San Francisco Seals in a Western Hockey League game last night.

The triumph broke a two-game losing streak by the Canucks who have now won three out of four from the defending champion Seals.

Bell scored his first at 14:54 on a power play. Then Seal Len Haley was credited with a 3-3 tying goal which was kicked in by Vancouver net tender Gilles Villemure at 15:29. Bell ended the scoring less than three minutes later with his second goal of the night.

The Seals' Charlie Burns scored the opening goal at 5:47 while his team was short one player.

Howie Hughes tied the score at 6:32 in the second period, only to have Wayne Connelly put the Seals in front again 34 seconds later. Larry Popein deadlocked the score again, 2-2 at 18:33 to close out the second period. Bell took over from there.

Washington Star Lineman Of Week

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)— Jim Norton, defensive tackle for Washington, was picked today as AAWU lineman of the week.

Norton won the title for his play Saturday in Washington's 21-16 victory over California.

The 6-4, 235-pound two-year letterman had five unassisted tackles as he led the Washington defensive effort that held Cal to a net of 16 yards rushing.

Norton, an education major from Wenatchee, Wash., has been largely responsible for the Huskies' leading position in AAWU rushing defense.

TEACHER ERRS

Army Heeds Pupil's Plea On Song

WASHINGTON (AP)—This may jolt her teacher, but seventh grader Debbie Greenberg is right about the official Army song.

Debbie and her teacher had a difference of opinion on this question recently.

She contended the Army's tune is the "Caisson Song." He insisted it is "The Ballad of Rodger Young."

Debbie knew it is hard to win an argument with a teacher unless you have some evidence on your side.

So she went to the source, writing a letter from her home at Westbury, N.Y., to "United States Army, c/o the Pentagon Building, Washington, D.C."

"I know you are very busy and cannot be bothered with heavy nonsense, but I have an important favor to ask you," she started out.

Then Debbie told about her discussion with her teacher:

"I had to name four service songs. I named the Navy's (no offense), the Air Force's, the Marines', then I named the Caisson Song for the Army.

"He so sweetly said no. After this response my heart sank to the bottom of my stomach. I argued in a polite way that I was right. He thinks the Army song is 'Rodger Young'."

Almost plaintively, Debbie said she had consulted every library and reference source — "I have even stopped every kind of serviceman on the street."

"I hate to bother you men in Washington," she apologized, "but this means a lot to me. I am not trying to show my teacher up, all I am interested in is the Army song."

After signing the letter, Debbie added as a P.S.: "You're very sweet. Thanks a million."

Maybe it was the P.S. that did it.

Anyway, the matter came to the attention of a general who wrote back a "Dear Debbie" letter confirming that "our song is 'The Army Goes Rolling Along' and it is based on the old Caisson Song."

"My answer will please you but it probably will not do the same for your teacher," the general said wryly.

Mayor Is Criticized For Donning Police Chief Hat

SAN BERNARDINO (AP)—Mayor Donald G. Mauldin has come under fire from city council members for assuming direct control of the police department.

"Putting three bosses over the department makes a bad situation worse," said Councilman Jesse Arias Jr.

Mauldin took over direct control of the department when Police Chief Lee I. Robb retired Nov. 1.

The mayor said he was acting under provision of the city charter which gives the mayor "general supervision" of all city offices.

Mauldin said two assistant chiefs, both of whom declined the chief's job, would run the department, while he would make policy decisions.

Three of the other five councilmen also voiced disapproval of Mauldin's action.

They were Kenneth A. Johnson, Alan E. Guhin and Robert G. Humphrey.

Humphrey called the action a "dangerous precedent."

Mauldin said he would continue to seek a replacement for the police chief.

CORE Not Slated To Meet Tonight

There will be no meeting in Marin tonight of the Congress of Racial Equality, although a headline in Friday's Independent-Journal implied there would be.

The story, dealing with a meeting of another group, was correct. However, the headline, which said "CORE Meeting," was in error.

Son Arrested On Father's Charge

A San Anselmo man had his 19-year-old son arrested Friday on a charge the youth threatened to punch him in the nose.

Marin sheriff's officers said they booked Licinio Lee Busolo, 19, of 34 Grove Street, San Rafael, on the citizen's arrest of his father, Lee L. Busolo of 61 Nokomis Avenue, San Anselmo.

The senior Busolo told deputies the threat occurred at the father's Kentfield gasoline station. The youth was charged with disturbance.

Bait Collecting Boat Is Like Luxury Yacht

When Frank Pomilio of 613 Meadowsweet Drive, Corte Madero, goes fishing for bait hereafter, he'll go in style.

Pomilio tied up the Mark Christopher, the 57-foot bait boat he pilots for John C. Olivera of Alameda Saturday at Fishermen's Wharf in San Francisco.

The Mark Christopher is a bait boat with a difference. It has three swimming pools, pine paneling, and a religious shrine for the crew.

The craft was built for its 25-year-old owner, Olivera, by Tatco Shipbuilding Co. of San Diego.

The 38-year-old skipper will take the Mark Christopher into the Pacific for anchovies. First sailing is scheduled next week, and if it is successful, Pomilia will return with 65 tons of live anchovies which will be "flash frozen" by S. J. Sturiale Fish Co. in Sausalito to be sold to commercial and sport fisherman.

The trim diesel-powered vessel has an unusually large engine room.

There is no wheel in the wheelhouse—merely a lever, which controls a newly designed hydraulic steering system.

The pine palenling is in the cabin. There, also, is the Madonna, enshrined in a cabinet.

Driver Arrested After Accident

A 42-year-old Kentfield man was booked by the California Highway Patrol on a charge of being drunk in an automobile after his car struck a parked auto on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard east of McAllister Avenue at 9:50 p.m. Saturday, injuring him slightly.

Booked was Donald L. Suhr Jr. of 936 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. The patrol said his car hit one owned by Roland B. Nelson of 900 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Suhr suffered a scrape on his head in the crash.

Junior Theatre's Season Will Open

The opening event of the winter season for Marin Junior Theatre will be its traditional sherry luncheon on Thursday at Corinthian Yacht Club, marking the 20th year for the group. Some 350 invitations have been mailed for the event which begins at noon and during which Mrs. Douglas A. Pease of Kentfield, president, will describe the new season's plays for children.

Mrs. Pease said that the premise on which a small group founded the Junior Theatre at Forest Meadows, San Rafael, in 1945 is to bring live theater to children in Marin, and this year five plays have been scheduled at San Rafael High School auditorium.

THE SEASON OPENS Jan. 9 with "Ali Baba and the 40 Thieves" and "Puppet Circus," performed by the Lesselli Marionettes. On Jan. 23 there will be a performance of "Rama and the Tigers", a Magic Circle Production. Next will be "The Gold Hat" on Feb. 6 by San Francisco Players Guild. On March 13 "Toad of Toad Hall" will be performed by the Castle Court Players. The final play of the winter season will be "Magic in Bannerland", a performance of the Masque Unit on April 24.

All performances are held at the San Rafael High School on Saturdays. Mrs. C. E. van Vliet of Fairfax is ticket chairman.

Birthday party chairman is Mrs. Gerald De Vore of San Anselmo.

THE 1965 SLATE of officers for The Junior Theatre of Marin are Mrs. Douglas A. Pease, Art and Garden Unit, president; Mrs. Irving Lipschultz, Belvedere-Tiburon Unit, vice president; Mrs. John A. Miskimen, North Marin Unit, secretary; Mrs. Halvor F. Berg, Sleepy Hollow Unit, treasurer.

Card Designer A Fantasy Painter

Artist Jane Bacher of Mill Valley this year has produced the design of the Family Service League of Marin's Christmas card, sale of which benefits the Family Service Agency, Marin County counseling service.

A design of two doves, a village and a starry sky, is done in turquoise and olive green on a green background. Birds, animals and flowers are favorite subjects for the artist, who classifies her style as "fantasy painting."

Jane Bacher, like many artists, is not deeply involved with painting but also sensitive to problems around her. Much of her time and art has been donated not only to the Family Service League but also to the Marin Mental Health Assn., the Mill Valley Library Building Fund and other causes.

A prize winner at this year's Mill Valley Art Festival, Mrs. Bacher is the wife of expressionist painter Frank Bacher.

SHE BEGAN her career in Chicago where she was born Jane Krivich, daughter of a Trieste ship designer. Her original interest was in advertising. When she found that design had more appeal, she enrolled in a drawing class at the Chicago Art Institute.

Later she became an apprentice at a large commercial studio and from there went on to Marshall Field and Co., where she did designing and other jobs for six years.

ABOUT THIS time she became enthralled with painting. She took classes on Saturday afternoons at the Institute of Design and painted in all her spare time. In 1951 she came to San Francisco, where she stopped painting for a while and again did commercial work.

THE BACHERS moved to Marin in 1953 and began to direct their energy toward the goal of having a simple house in an attractive setting which would be suitable for painting. The Bacher hillside home is just that. They have turned a small two story house into a light, airy place with a warmth coming from the many paintings hung on walls covered with burlap.

Steep green carpeted stairs lead to the second floor studio where the Bachers work together on serigraph prints, a form of silk screening. There will be a Bacher-Bacher show in Saratoga in December.

MRS. BACHER has exhibited her paintings many places in Marin. In 1960 her work was part of a group show in San Francisco. It was then she realized that what she wanted most was to concentrate on painting.

She has great enthusiasm for everything which interests her. In addition to painting and working part time at the Glad Hand Restaurant in Sausalito, Mrs. Bacher's interests include sewing, knitting, cooking and gardening.

An exhibit of prints by Jane Bacher may be seen and purchased at the Family Service League Shop, located at 27 Throckmorton Ave., Mill Valley during the month of November.

THE CHRISTMAS card will be on sale at the Family Service League Shop and at the Family Service Agency, 1005 A St., San Rafael. Mrs. Thomas Dorst and Mrs. J. J. Wolfersperger of Tiburon are chairmen of card sales for the league.

Lady Diplomat Leading Way In London

AMBASSADOR MIMI Chittendenu of Costa Rica would like to see more women holding top diplomatic posts. She has been a part of the "striped pants brigade" accredited to the Court of St. James's in London for two years. (UPI Telephoto)

LONDON (UPI) — Ambassador "Mimi" Chittenden, Costa Rica's gift to the London diplomatic scene, would like to see more members of her sex hold top diplomatic posts. She thinks women can fit into the male embassy world without prejudice so long as they stay feminine.

Mimi should know. Two years ago she became the first woman ambassador in London, and she has been soloing ever since, a glamorous, smartly dressed addition to the striped pants brigade accredited to the Court of St. James's.

She also doubles as ambassador to Norway, and in Oslo four other women hold the same rank. She would like to see more here.

"Mimi" is married to an American, George Peters Chittenden, who has family ties with Clinton, Conn., but is closely associated with Costa Rica. He devotes his time here to studying new food processing methods.

She says that whatever success she has had here, and diplomatic colleagues say it has not been inconsiderable, has depended "on the strong moral support of my husband."

But when the diplomatic crush is on, Madam Ambassador has to go it alone, and often she has found herself the lone woman at formal dinners and functions. She takes her seat according to the diplomatic rank and when the cigars are handed out she takes one (to give to her husband).

Mimi said she works on the principle that men are gentlemen—and will act accordingly just so long as the lady acts "without pushing or getting hysterical."

"If you approach the male world from the female angle then the men will accept you. If you try to act like a male they fight back."

She is always well groomed, takes pride in presenting her daughters, Sylvia, 21, Patricia, 18 and Nancy 12, and likes to show off their house in Knightsbridge.

Mimi makes a point of fulfilling all tasks a man would undertake. She sits in on commodity conferences that run into the early hours of the morning.

The ambassador also was one of her country's representatives at the Geneva U.N. world trade and development conference. She was, in fact, serving on the first committee when the group of 75 developing nations was formed.

"It is important that women should be involved. This is our world too. We must be objective about what man has done for us and how he has freed us by accepting us.

"My welcome here by my colleagues signifies this acceptance of what women can do to help balance the world and work for peace."

She said she felt a deep sense of gratitude to her own Costa Rican people for accepting her as their ambassador.

Lee Enemark Weds Patricia Ann Vogel

St. Lucy's Church in Campbell was the setting Saturday afternoon for the nuptials of Patricai Ann Vogel and Lee Frederick Enemark, the Rev. Milan I. Hlebs officiating.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fischer Enemark of San Rafael.

Patricia, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Vogel of Campbell, recited vows wearing a white satin gown trimmed with Alencon lace and ending in a chapel length train.

Mrs. Willis Parr of San Jose, the bride's sister, was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Michelle Vogel and Susan Jean Enemark. All wore full length azalea taffeta sheath dresses with trains. Michalle and Susan are respective sisters of the bride and the bridegroom.

William Langlois of San Francisco was best man and ushers were Howard Nurse of Stanford and Michael Bour of San Jose.

After a reception at Hawaiian Gardens in San Jose, the couple left on a Carmel and Southern California wedding trip. They will live in San Rafael.

The bride attended Notre Dame High School and San Jose State College and has been employed with Lockheed. Mrs. Willis Parr, Michelle Vogel and David Vogel are her sisters and brother.

Newspaper advertising makes things happen.

There's something about the very nature of the newspaper that stimulates buying action, whatever the product. Maybe it's because the newspaper has an atmosphere of action and urgency. Maybe it's because its pages are full of what's going on right now . . . right here . . . today.

Whatever it is, it gives the newspaper's advertising something extra and makes it more immediate, more compelling. That's why advertisers invested $3.7 billion in newspapers last year to generate buying action among the 100 million readers who shop the newspaper day after day.

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, Nov. 9, the 314th day of 1964 with 52 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter. The morning stars are Jupiter, Mars and Venus. The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

American actress Marie Dressler was born on this day in 1873.

On this day in history:

In 1861, Ulysses S. Grant fought his first battle of the Civil War at Belmont, Mo.

In 1953, the Supreme Court confirmed a 1922 ruling that big league baseball does not come under the anti-trust laws.

In 1960, John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts was elected president by a narrow margin over Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

In 1963, 22 Japanese were killed in a mine explosion, and 162 other persons died in a train collision near Yokohama.

A though for the day—Ulysses S. Grant said: "Labor disgraces no man; unfortunately, you find men who disgrace labor."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Sporting Comments Make You Look Good At Bridge

Praise the opponents warmly when they defeat you. Whether the praise is deserved or undeserved, you look like a fine sportsman.

What's more, you may divert your partner's attention from the fact that you played the hand like a foot.

Opening lead — ♠ J

South won the first trick with the king of spades, drew two trumps and led a club from dummy to his own king. West played the three of clubs as though he had never heard of such a thing as an ace.

CASHED ACE

South cashed the ace of spades, ruffed his low spade in dummy, and returned another low club. East naturally played low, and South vacillated.

After much mental coin-tossing, South put up the queen of clubs. The defenders thereupon took two clubs and two diamonds, defeating the contract.

"Very pretty," South congratulated West. "You really had me fooled. I could have sworn you didn't have the ace of clubs."

MISPLAYED HAND

All very touching, but we aren't deceived for a minute, are we? We know that South misplayed the hand.

After drawing two trumps, South should lead the four of diamonds. If West plays low, declarer finesses with dummy's nine.

East wins with the ace of diamonds and returns a low club. South puts up the king, and let's suppose that West craftily plays low. It will do him no good.

OTHER DIAMOND

South leads his other diamond. West can take the king, but now declarer can get to dummy with a trump to discard a club on the queen of diamonds. And then he doesn't care which opponent has the ace of clubs.

If South's first diamond play happens to lose to the jack, he can abandon the suit and fall back on the clubs. Then, true enough, he may misguess the correct club play.

But it costs nothing to try the diamonds first; and if West has A-J or K-J of diamonds (or even the A-K) South will not have to guess at all in clubs.

♣ J 7 6 2

What do you say?

Answer: Bid one spade.

The hand is worth a response, since you have 7 points. Show a suit at the level of one rather than respond in notrump.

Here's an almost new 4-Dr. hardtop Special Skylark that we've used during the year here at the company. It's a car that would sell new for approximately $3500 but we've reduced this car to $2850.

It's never been registered—thus you would be the first owner of record which entitles you to the full General Motors new car guarantee of two years or 24,000 miles.

It's fully equipped with power steering, power brakes, automatic trans., radio, heater, w/w tires, tinted glass, windshield washer, custom trim, back up lights and all the Buick luxury items.

Research Is Urged On Salt Water Use

By WIL LEPKOWSKI
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON—President Lyndon B. Johnson is being urged to accelerate research on ways of converting salt water to fresh.

A plan just submitted to the White House by the interior department and the Atomic Energy Commission recommends raising the water desalting budget from the current 12 million dollars to an annual average of 37 million dollars through 1970.

The biggest item is for a 50 million-gallon-per-day prototype plant to be built, around 1967. It would be nuclear powered and fill the dual role of producing both fresh water and electricity.

The largest desalter in existence is run by the Dutch in Venezuela and turns out 2.7 million gallons each day. It uses conventional fuel. The AEC, however, is looking ahead to one billion gallon plants and with Israel is studying the feasibility of a 125 million gallon unit.

The big atomic plants probably would employ a process known as flash distillation. Heat from the reactor would evaporate huge amounts of water, the steam would be condensed into liquid and pour off as fresh water.

For smaller plants, the interior department urged stepped up research on the technique called reverse osmosis. Here ocean water is forced against a membrane which filters out the salt, letting only fresh water through.

Big plants would supply water for large cities. Small plants would satisfy small towns and various industries.

President Johnson has said, "There is no scientific breakthrough, including the trip to the moon, that will mean more to the country which first is able to bring fresh water from salt water as a competitive rate."

Science and technology still have a long way to go to achieve that breakthrough. Water drawn from conventional sources sells for an average of about 35 cents per 1,000 gallons at the faucet. The 100 or so conversion plants in operation today produce fresh water at the site for about $1.25 per 1,000 gallons. Transportation costs often add considerably to the figure.

Areas where water supplies will reach critical points during coming decades, according to the report, include Southern California, the upper Colorado River basin, Gulf Coast, upper Missouri River, and the Rio Grande-Pecos basin. Smaller danger areas include Puerto Rico, Long Island and the Florida keys.

To get ready for such future demands, the interior department recommends extension of the Water Desalting Act through 1972, with monetary authority raised by 200 million dollars. It urges the establishment of a West Coast facility to study the effects of sea water on large scale components and it calls for "a sharply increased basic research effort to discover entirely new desalting techniques, to develop the reverse osmosis process, and perfect the distillation process."

The AEC wants a broadened reactor development program to study the economics of units needed for the desalting plants. The program would include construction of prototype plants, evaluation of other promising reactor types, studies of ways to link a reactor to a desalting plant, and research on a heavy water, organic-cooled unit as a source of both desalting and electric power.

This Is Sort Of Jim Crow Story

CHICAGO (UPI)—When the new president rides down Pennsylvania Avenue next January to receive his oath of office, there won't be any starlings among the onlookers.

Bird removal expert Joseph H. Fink, reports he has been called in by the joint Republican-Democratic Pre-Inaugural Committee to make sure the birds are kept away. Fink did the same for President Kennedy's Inaugural in 1961 and for President Eisenhower's in 1957.

Account Of Stroke Wins Top Award

NEW YORK (UPI) — The American Heart Association has awarded its 1964 Howard W. Blakeslee Award to Eric Hodgins for his book, "Episode: Report on the Accident Inside My Skull." The book recounts Hodgins' experiences following a stroke. He is the author of "Mr. Blandings Builds His Dream House" and "Blandings Way" and the former publisher of Fortune magazine.

Space Age Hot Dog To Have Own Heat

NEW YORK (UPI)—The hot dog of the future will be heated automatically with built-in electrodes, Dr. Samuel Goldblith said in a speech at the Newspaper Food Editors Conference here.

Goldblith, a research associate in the food technology department of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, said U.S. patent 3,143,424 covers a pre-fabricated hot sandwich in which the bread bakes while the meat cooks.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Doctor Sees No Harm In Use Of Artificial Sweeteners

VAN DELLEN

A woman writes: "Someone asked you recently whether saccharin is safe to use. You said it is perfectly harmless. Now I have been told by a reliable physician that this is a coal tar product and it is bad for the kidneys. He also said I should learn to get along without it; I only imagine I have to have things sweet."

Artificial sweeteners, such as saccharin and cyclamate, are being substituted for sugar in a variety of beverages and foods, including soft drinks, coffee, baked goods, desserts, canned fruits, juices, and sirups. Cyclamate also is substituted for sugar in bacon and ham, with the government's blessing.

THESE PRODUCTS have not produced harmful side effects during the 14 years they have been on the market. Most of the research along this line was done on adults; there are little data on children or pregnant women. In addition, larger amounts of both are being consumed by calorie conscious people. This was true of sacharin during the war when sugar was difficult to obtain.

Most people are willing to accept data of this type as proof that the products are safe. After all, articial sweeteners have been utilized for more than a decade, and if they damage the kidneys, we should know by now.

ON THE OTHER hand, I am against the indiscriminate use of any chemical or drug over long periods of time. I feel more strongly about this when it comes to using these sweeteners on a reducing regimen. They have failed in this respect when subjected to special tests.

This attitude is contrary to what the just-wait-and-see group believes. In their opinion, it might take a lifetime to uncover the adverse effects of products of this nature. There is a risk to everything we do. We face injury or death on crossing the street, driving a car, or going swimming. Considering the true perspective of the situation, we might assume it is safer to use products of a questionable nature than to leave the house.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

MORNING SWELLING

Mrs. E. K. writes: My husband (30 years old) wakes up with swollen fingers every morning. They gradually become normal during the day. Is this a form of arthritis?

REPLY

Yes, provided swelling is limited to the joints. Puffiness also may stem from the accumulation of fluid in the tissues of the hands.

PREGNANCIES

Mrs. M. writes: Why do so many women get pregnant during the change of life?

REPLY

Pregnancy obviously is more common at an earlier age. But there is more gossip about or publicity given to that "extra or unexpected dividend" that some women of menopausal age receive.

NO OSMOSIS

Mrs. G. writes: Can a food handler or cook absorb calories through the pores? I was given this information by a waitress.

REPLY

No. The calories come from tasting, nibbling, and eating well. Methinks the waitress is chubby and is looking for an alibi.

NUMBNESS FROM PRESSURE

N.H. writes: Is numbness of the hands while sleeping part of the problem of cervical arthritis?

REPLY

Yes, but sleeping on an arm is a more common cause.

DEPRESSANTS AND RELAXANTS

D.Z. writes: What is the difference between a sedative and an antispasmodic drug?

REPLY

Sedatives induce drowsiness and sleep whereas antispasmodic drugs relax the smooth muscles that surround the blood vessels, intestines, stomach valves, and other body openings.

COME, NOW

Mrs. B. writes: Is it true that if a pregnant woman puts a needle and thread through the eraser of a pencil, and places it over the pulse on the wrist, she can determine whether she will have a boy or girl, depending on the direction the pencil swings?

REPLY

Tut-tut.

BULGING GULLET

W. M. J. writes: What is the cause of a diverticulum in the esophagus?

REPLY

We do not know why the wall of this passageway weakens and bulges out, to form a pocket.

WOOZY FROM SUN

F. P. writes: I'm 62 years old and would like to move to Florida to get away from cold winters. But after I'm in the sun five or 10 minutes I get woozy. Do you think this would be a bad move for me?

REPLY

Yes, provided the sun is responsible for this sensation. Why not spend a few weeks in Florida this coming winter, to test your theory?

Hong Kong Has 'Trouble' —It Keeps Making Money

HONG KONG (AP)—This is a town that can't stop making money.

Every year it's the same story. When the books are balanced, there's always money left over.

They try to spend it. Every budget is bigger. There are expensive projects to try to solve the water shortage, and thousands of apartments to try to solve the housing shortage.

But more money always comes in than goes out, and at the end of the year there's that surplus again.

It's an interesting problem. No other city seems to have it. But then there is no other place like Hong Kong.

First of all, it shouldn't even be here.

The British got the island with a bit of gunboat diplomacy—the standard practice in those days—about 120 years ago. Since then, a little bit of the China mainland has been added.

The government of China, of course, is Communist and its chiefs are the terrible-tempered Mr. Bang and Mr. Coffee Nerves of international politics.

It's a wonder they haven't taken the place back long since. Instead, they've become the largest investors in Hong Kong, pushing the British back to second place.

"I'll have my money back in 11 years," said one British investor, "the Chinese Communists willing."

And if they aren't?

"Then I'm wiped out."

But people are pouring money into huge, substantial office buildings, factories, warehouses, homes, hotels, stores.

Already crammed to the bursting point with Chinese fleeing the harsh and humorless regime at home, Hong Kong decided to go into business on its own, mostly textiles.

Then the tourists discovered the free port, where products from everywhere were on sale at prices cheaper than in the places where they were made. When jet planes came, Hong Kong was the first city in the area to build runways for them.

Now tourists swarm in at a rate of half a million a year.

Berkeley Students Lead Peace Corps

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — The University of California's Berkeley campus is the nation's most productive recruiting ground for the Peace Corps.

A total of 687 UC students have applied for the Peace Corps during the past year, far more than have signed up at any campus during any year since the corps was established.

The Kremlin, meaning simply "citadel," is the oldest and most strategic part of Moscow. Within the walled fortifications are old royal palaces, governmental bureaus and churches where the czars were crowned and buried. Some government offices, including that of the premier, are still located there.

TELEVISION REVIEW

'Profiles' Series Looks Promising

By RICK du BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—"Profiles In Courage," the television series based on John F. Kennedy's book, arrived on NBC last night, with the slain president's voice used to state its theme.

The first episode of the weekly one-hour dramas, "The Oscar W. Underwood Story," dealt wtih an Alabama senator who had to decide whether to end his open opposition to the powerful Ku Klux Klan at the 1924 Democratic National Convention in his pursuit of the presidential nomination.

NBC is clearly aiming for "Profiles In Courage" to be the most prestigious weekly entry of the season, and though the other shows make the competition a pushover this year, there is little question that the Kennedy program would be a potent contender at any time, if the first broadcast is any indication.

The NBC-TV network has not scheduled "profiles In Courage" in a prime-time period, but it does air at an ideal hour for family viewing, 3 p.m., PST. The "Profiles In Courage" program is sponsored by Aluminum Ltd.

In the premiere, Sidney Blackmer portrayed Underwood, but the best role and most effective moments went to Victor Jory as his campaign manager, torn between the desire to win and admiration for the man he represented. Jory was tough, humorous, knowledgeable and convincing as he radiated authenticity.

In the story, Underwood could have won the nomination if he had not chosen to make a convention issue of the influential Klan. But he wanted the Democratic Party to go on record concerning the matter.

Furthermore, as a politician, he felt that as a Southerner who was not considered a liberal, he was the only candidate who could win though coming out against the Klan. His position cost him not only the nomination but his political career as well.

The scenes of political pressures were sharply drawn. Such figures as William Jennings Bryan were not treated kindly. David Karp's spare, incisive script was handled with pointed intelligence and passion by director Lamont Johnson, down to the smallest roles. And the feeling of the photography for the period, with the very film footage seeming dated, was a genuine achievement.

CHANNEL SWIM: Secretary of State Dean Rusk, former Ambassador to Russia George Kennan and former Ambassador to Italy Clare Boothe Luce appear Wednesday on the "CBS Reports" program "The U.S. and The Two Chinas" . . . The broadcast will also include films of mainland China.

New church architecture is the subject of CBS-TV's "Look Up and Live" the next two Sundays . . . The Vietnam war is examined by NBC-TV in an hour special Dec. 1 . . . Ex-heavyweight champ Floyd Patterson is a commentator on films of last winter's Sonny Liston-Cassius Clay fight on ABC-TV's "Wide World of Sports" this Saturday.

With monster series doing well in the ratings, ABC-TV's "The Flintstones" introduces a family called "The Gruesomes" Thursday . . . The Beatles, in their taped one-hour special for the same network Sunday, will do a costumed parody of a scene from "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

RUMORS: That June Allyson may star in a daytime serial as a psychologist . . . That CBS-TV's "The Beverly Hillbillies," which has fallen off in the ratings, is a possibility for a time slot switch . . . That there may be a try at a series based on the movie "Singin' In The Rain," with Gene Kelly as producer . . . That Lorne ("Bonanza") Greene, who has been doing some professional singing, is being mentioned to star in an NBC-TV special.

Country Singer Seemingly Jinxed

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—The film "Your Cheatin' Heart," the life story of country singer Hank Williams, premiered here Friday night, recalling that Williams died of a heart seizure in an automobile New Year's Day, 1953.

The night after the premier, Hank Williams Jr. was involved in a car accident in Nashville but was not seriously injured. Young Williams' custom-built automobile was demolished when it skidded off a rain-slick highway and struck a tree.

He has followed his father into the spotlight as a country singer.

The movie about the elder Williams stars George Hamilton.

State Park Urged For Bodega Head

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The chairman of the Assembly Committee on Natural Resources has urged the establishment of a state park at Bodega Head.

Assemblyman Edwin L. Z'Berg, (D-Sacramento), announced during the weekend that he had asked State Resources Administrator Hugo Fisher to determine how the state division of beaches and parks felt about the idea.

Pacific Gas and Electric Co. recently abandoned the Bodega Head site as a location for a nuclear power plant.

Alfred Frankenstein, art and music critic of the San Francisco Chronicle, will discuss American art and American moods at 8 p.m. Friday in room 96 of Olney Hall at the College of Marin in Kentfield. The free lecture is sponsored by the college's concert and lecture series.

Jewels Found In Bay Mudflats

SAN MATEO (UPI) — Jewelry valued at $5,000 was found yesterday in mudflats near the toll booth of the San Mateo-Hayward bridge.

Robert Nichcolas of San Mateo told sheriff's deputies he stumbled on a number of small cases containing the jewels while looking for driftwood.

Deputies said the gems were reported stolen by Clyde Campbell of Burlingame. Campbell said the cases, containing rings, necklaces and other items, were taken from his car Tuesday evening.

Campbell, a salesman for a San Francisco jewelry firm, said the gems were insured for $5,000.

'Whoop-And-Holler' Phones On Way Out For Farmers

By BERNARD BRENNER

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Back in 1950 nearly two-thirds of the nation's farms had no telephones at all. Those that existed were "whoop - and - holler" museum-piece magneto sets.

Today, 15 years after passage of a law authorizing cheap government credit for rural telephone companies, an estimated 76 per cent of all farms have telephones—and 90 per cent of these are on modern dial service.

The dramatic improvements sprang from a series of engineering developments which helped cut the cost of extending and improving rural service. The circuit-mile cost of new rural telephone lines, for example, has been halved since 1957.

But what lies ahead is "the hardest part of the job," according to officials of the rural electrification Administration. (REA). This agency operates the telephone credit program alongside its older lending program for rural electrification. Still to be done is the task of pushing lines out to the 24 per cent of unserved farms and homes in remote rural areas.

The bill authorizing low-cost, long-term federal credit to rural telephone companies—independent commercial companies and farmer cooperatives — became law Oct. 28, 1949. By last July 1, REA had approved loans of nearly 1.1 billion dollars to 616 commercial companies and 222 cooperatives.

The borrowers serve more than 1.5 million rural subscribers in 46 states, or about half of all farm telephone customers. Typical of the loans was a recent one of 2.2 million dollars to the Big Bend Telephone Co. of Alpine, Tex.

The company operates in an isolated, mountainous rural area of Southwest Texas where some people still depend on magneto telephones and some have no service at all. The company plans to install exchanges and new dial offices at Alamito, Six-Shooter, Hell's Half Acre, Calamity Creek and Big Canyon. For some remote homes, a mobile dial radio-telephone system will be used.

All customers of the Big Bend system will be on single, two-party, or four-party lines. This is part of a trend away from eight-party-or-more service in rural areas.

At the beginning of 1964, about half the subscribers on REA-financed rural telephone systems had more-than-four-party lines. By 1970, REA officials say, they hope the number of over-four-party lines can be cut to 20 per cent and the number of one and two-party lines raised to 50 percent.

Costs of rural telephone service have been chopped in recent years by developments like burying wires instead of stringing them overhead.

Thomas J. McDonough, head of REA's telephone standards division, said crews can plow new rural lines into the ground now at the rate of five to eight miles a day, about twice as fast as conventional pole line construction.

Other strides have come with development by the telephone industry and REA technicians of improved electronic carriers which permit many conversations to be carried on a single wire.

McDonough said a new industry carrier system to be unveiled soon will cut the cost of using this device in half in many cases.

Under the REA program, loans are made for up to 35 years at a 2 per cent interest rate. Officials said that of 890.6 million dollars actually advanced to borrowers from the first loan in 1950 through last July 31, the agency had only five overdue accounts totaling about $152,000 in principal and interest.

Annexation To City Might Be Preferred

Annexation to a city may be preferred by the county's Local Agency Formation Commission standards to formation of a new service district.

John F. Barrows, executive officer of the year-old commission, has listed suggested guidelines for evaluation of proposals coming before the group, which will discusss the standards Nov. 23.

Adoption of standards and procedures for evaluation of proposals was left to each of the commissions in the 58 counties of California by the State Legislature which created the commissions in the 58 counties of California by the State Legislature which created the commission in 1963.

Among Barrow's recommendations is adoption of an order of preference in which all new special service districts, including fire, water and sanitary and recreation districts should be created.

Heading the list is annexation to an existing city, followed by annexation to an existing district governed by the board of supervisors.

Continuing down the list in preferences, which may be adopted by the LAFC, are annexation to an existing community service district, annexation to another existing district, formation of a new county service area, incorporation of a new city, formation of a new community services district, and lastly, formation of a new single purpose district.

The suggested standards include preparation boundary descriptions of proposals for the annexation of territory to local agencies or formation of new agencies, and demonstration of the need for the new service district.

Barrows' guidelines are not absolute. Where boundaries divide an existing community or commercial district, an unadvisable plan, the proponents will have to explain and justify the proposal.

Islands or strips of area within or adjacent to the proposed new district should not be created by the boundaries. If they are, justification for the proposal will have to be provided by the proponents.

A proposal for formation of a new agency will have to include demonstration of the economic feasibility of the plan, taking assessed valuation and other sources of revenue into consideration.

Barrows has recommended that the LAFC take the effect of potential population growth within a proposed service district into account and urge conformance of new districts with a general plan of the area in which they are proposed.

Inmates Help Fight Fires

San Quentin Prison inmates have logged more than 170,000 man hours fighting fires in the north coastal area of California this year, according to the prison news service.

The men are all inmates at the conservation camps operated jointly by the prison and the state Division of Forestry.

One of these, the Konocti Conservation Camp near Lower Lake in Lake County, has contributed nearly 46,000 of the total man hours as its men responded to 56 fire calls.

Camp inmates also have been called on to search for lost hunters, aid injured motorists and to assist in various rescue operations. Many were used in emergency work when a tidal wave struck Crescent City after the Alaskan earthquake in March.
